Cut Manpower Of Germany French Demand

Proposes Exodus of Population To Lower Nation's War Potential

MOSCOW, March 15 (AP).—France proposed tonight a startling modern day exodus of Germans from their defeated Fatherland in order to lower the German war potential, and Secretary Marshall said the plan struck at the heart of the German problem.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the Foreign Ministers' Council that the Allies should undertake an organized reduction of the population through emigration from a thickly-settled Reich and said France was prepared to take the revolutionary step of absorbing Germans into her own population.

He said that France considered the German population, which is much denser than her neighboring states, a war potential that could be linked with the German industrial potential.

The day's developments found Marshall summoning Lt.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay from Germany to consult on the German question, while the Chinese announced outright rejection of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's plea for informal big three discussions on China.

Veteran Moscow observers expected that Marshall and the other Foreign Ministers would be called to the Kremlin shortly to see Premier Stalin. These reports coincided with word that Republican senators in the United States were urging that Marshall explain America's policies in the Mediterranean to the Soviet leader.

Russia struck the first blow against plans of the Western Allies for a "federalized" Germany with criticism of Western land reorganization policies which the Russians viewed as paving the way for federalization.

Bidault made his sweeping proposal for Germany by explaining that with the return of expellees from former parts of the Reich, Germany would have a density of population of 196 per square kilometer to 75 per square kilometer for France and 62 for Poland. He said this would be 40 more per square kilometer than when Adolf Hitler raised his cry for "living space."

Rationing May End On Syrup

Report Ceilings To Be Continued

(Special to The Daily Colonist)

OTTAWA, March 15.—Corn syrup, can syrup and blended table syrups, which have been under ration control since September, 1943, are expected to be removed from the ration list for consumers by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board within the next day or two.

Freeing of syrups from ration regulations will mean that housewives will have more coupons available for purchase of sugar or other rationed alternatives such as jams, jellies and honey.

While corn syrup, cane syrup and blended table syrups are being taken off the ration list, they will definitely continue under price control.

So far as the use of corn and cane syrups for industrial or manufacturing purpose is concerned, they will most probably remain prohibited except under permit from the sugar administrator.

Taft Demands Knowledge Of Russia's Intentions

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP).—Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio) called today for an official size-up on whether Russia may declare war if the United States gives financial and military aid to Greece and Turkey.

"I want to know what our top military people think of the possibility that Russia will go to war if we carry out this program," he said, "just as we might be prompted to go to war if Russia tried to force a Communist Government on Cuba."

He raised the question amid these fresh developments:

1. President Truman made public messages of thanks from spokesmen for all Greek parties except the Communists. The President said they show that all will co-operate unreservedly with the United States Government in its desire to assist Greece" and "that they pledge the aid will be devoted to "constructive rehabilitation and the cause of peace and freedom."

2. Key congressmen predicted that Hungary and four Middle East states—Iran, Syria, Lebanon, and Palestine—may seek American aid under the administration program of curbing the advance of Communism. These legislators estimated the ultimate cost of the program may top $1,000,000,000.

3. Willard Thorp, assistant secretary of state, declared that the United States is underwriting Greece because its people are democratic but that this country's responsibility will cease if they "take some other line."

Italian Editor Shot to Death

ROME, March 15 (AP).—Press dispatches said today that an Italian editor, who had waged an anti-Communist campaign built around the disappearance of Benito Mussolini's treasure after his execution two years ago, was assassinated last night in Milan.

The journalist was identified as Franco de Agazio, 42, editor of the weekly newspaper Il Meridiano d'Italia. The dispatches said he was accosted by three men as he walked toward his home and killed with two pistol bullets through the heart.

The assassins escaped.

Green Will Be Worn Tomorrow By Irishmen Throughout World

Irishmen all over the world tomorrow will wear the green in honor of St. Patrick, patron saint of the Emerald Isle, who is credited with having chased the snakes from the Old Country. This year will mark the 1,426th celebration of his anniversary.

While other nations, including the Welsh, French and Scots, have all claimed St. Patrick as a native son, the Scottish claims seem to be loudest. They say he was born at Kilpatrick, near Dumbarton, and was named Patricius Magonus Sucatus Calpurnius.

The Welsh say he left Wales as a boy of 16 after he was captured by wild Irish rovers, and was taken to Ireland where he learned the language, fled the country and returned about 432 as a missionary representative of Pope Celestino.

Ancient Irish lore, however, tells of the good deeds of this Christian who came to Eire to bring the pagan Celts into the fold.

While preaching to Druid pagans at Tara, it is related, he immortalized the shamrock when he held one up to dramatize the dogma of the Trinity of three in one and one in three.

Choice of March 17 as a day to honor the saint has been the subject of much discussion. What is believed to be the true story goes like this:

Following his death at Abbey Saul in County Down, Irishmen split on choice of an anniversary day. An Irish priest, Father Mulcahey by name, settled the matter once and for all. He took the two debated dates, March 8 and 9, added them together and came out with the 17th.

Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, India Viceroy-designate, as well as being High Steward of Romsey, Hampshire, officiates at his last public ceremony before leaving for India. The Viscount is inspecting the guard of honor of the 10th Cadet Company, Royal Hampshire Regiment, after arriving to open the new Romsey Council Chamber and Courtroom at the Town Hall, Romsey.

Army Post Exchange Blasted by Terrorists

JERUSALEM, March 16 (Sunday) (AP).—A group of persons identified officially as Jewish terrorists blew up a British Army post exchange store near Hadera early today.

A police source said he believed there were no casualties, but added that the building still was ablaze an hour after the blast. The installation is on the main Tel Aviv-Haifa highway a short distance from the Hadera army camp which has been attacked repeatedly in recent weeks.

Meanwhile, the cordon of troops around Tel Aviv's martial law zone was reinforced last night and reports from that all-Jewish city indicated the British Army was preparing to meet an underground Jewish threat to crack the city's defence.

Posters were distributed yesterday by Irgun Zvei Leumi, Jewish resistance organization, declaring "we will break through the ghetto."

Press correspondents living in the martial law zone were called to a conference by an army spokesman, who asked if they had received any messages from underground sources. He notified them that they would not be permitted to visit Citrus House, military headquarters in Tel Aviv, but did not explain why.

British Charges Back With U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 15 (AP). — Great Britain's mine-laying charges against Albania were tossed back to the United Nations Security Council tonight without recommendations by a three-nation subcommittee.

Indications were that the council would deliberate again and then pass the case again—this time to the International Court of Justice.

The report was submitted after two weeks of questioning witnesses and studying evidence surrounding the damaging of two British destroyers by mines in the Corfu Channel last October 22 with a loss of 44 lives. The British said Albania laid the mines. The Albanian Government denied the charges and in turn accused Royal Navy ships of invading its territorial waters.

The sub-committee, including Colombia, Australia and Poland, said in the report that it found little new evidence and suggested that the council would have to determine whether there actually was a mine field in the channel and whether Albania laid such a field before taking any action. The posing of these questions plus numerous legal complications prompted the impression that the case would end up in The Hague court.

Sweden Places Ban on Imports

STOCKHOLM, March 15 (AP).—The Swedish Government placed an all-over ban on imports tonight in a move to battle a growing inflation and a shrinkage in foreign currency resources.

The action came as a surprise. The Liberal newspaper Dagens Nyheter, in a first comment, said the Government's trade agreement with Russia was one cause for the difficulties, asserting that "produce reserved for Russia should have been reserved for Swedish needs."

Imports of essential commodities will continue under a Government licence system.

An increasing manpower shortage, excessive purchasing power, shortage of consumer goods and soaring salaries and prices have all contributed to Sweden's troubles.

Fishing Mishap Claims Lives

LAKEVIEW, Ore., March 15 (AP).—The bodies of two men and one woman were recovered from Goose Lake today, victims of a fishing accident that apparently also cost the life of another woman.

The bodies were those of Walter Hammersley, 26; Dewey Beckman, about 48, both of Lakeview, and Ada Lovelun, Silver Lake. Police continued dragging the lake for Zona Down, 55, Lakeview, who had gone fishing with the others.

The accident apparently occurred Thursday, but was not discovered until last night when a local resident, Lester Vandergaw, noticed Hammersley's truck and boat trailer standing on the shore. The boat itself was drifting, empty, near the beach.

Grasshopper Swarm Nine Miles Long

PARIS, March 15 (Reuters).—Swarms of large grasshoppers have invaded various regions of Algeria, in North Africa, it was reported today from Algiers. In some places clouds of insects nine miles long and four miles wide have been seen.

Truman Speech Raises Concern

LONDON, March 15 (AP).—Two British newspapers, one Conservative and one Labor, expressed uneasiness at President Truman's new policy today and said Britain should try to mediate the differences between Russia and the United States.

"Our first reaction to President Truman's speech on Wednesday was one of uneasiness. Our second thoughts are no happier," said The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party.

Saying it saw no reason "to clap our hands" and rejoice because "two allies of ours are now glaring at one another across Balkan frontiers," The Herald said Britain should "throw herself heart and soul into the strengthening of United Nations and into the parallel task of mediation between America and Russia."

Lord Beaverbrook's Conservative Daily Express also called for a "mighty effort" of British diplomacy" to ease the tension so "the rival standpoints of our friends shall not harden into a collision or slip into a deadlock."

Finance Minister Favors Tax Cuts

MONTREAL, March 15 (CP). — Finance Minister Abbott told a conference of Quebec Federation of Labor representatives here that he favors a reduction in personal income taxes in the Dominion.

He said he was especially interested in seeing relief from taxation for those in the low income brackets.

Mr. Abbott also declared that he had no intention of recommending the lifting of rent controls. Such controls are necessary, he said, so long as the housing problem remains as acute as it is today.

Expect Session To Set Record

OTTAWA, March 15 (CP).—Indications on Parliament Hill are that the third session of Canada's 20th Parliament will surpass in length the second session which lasted five and one-half months.

Last year the session ran from mid-March until the end of August. This year the session opened January 30, and now, after 31 sitting days, members find they still have the bulk of the work ahead of them.

On April 2, they will adjourn for a two-week Easter recess. The likelihood of any major work being done on control legislation between now and the start of the recess was indicated in Justice Minister Ilsley's announcement Friday that the Government will ask Tuesday for an extension to May 15 of emergency control legislation.

He indicated that if the control legislation, which covers such things as rentals and prices of commodities still under price ceilings, was not passed by that time he would ask for a further extension.

Some veteran parliamentarians claim there is no possibility of the budget coming down until the control legislation is cleared from the order paper. But even with the control legislation cleared by May 15 there would still be the budget debate. It averages anywhere from two weeks to a month.

Taking Homes For Own Staff

VANCOUVER, March 15 (CP). — Hon. T. C. Davis, new Canadian ambassador to China, arrived here today to arrange for shipment to Nanking of four Vancouver-made prefabricated houses in order to solve the housing problem at his new post.

The housing situation in the Chinese capital, said the ambassador, is "as tough as Washington and Ottawa," and the "prefabs" are being shipped to make sure his staff won't be homeless.

The houses, which are two-story buildings containing four bedrooms, will go up the Yangtse-Kiang River in a former American landing craft.

The ambassador said he knows nothing about China, has never been there, but assumes Canada is interested in keeping the goodwill of the Chinese people and in looking into trade opportunities.

The ambassador and his wife will remain here for ten days before proceeding to San Francisco, where they will board the Swedish freighter Mangarella bound for China.

Child Receives Fatal Injuries

CUMBERLAND, March 15.—Two-year-old Gerry Patterson died in Cumberland Hospital today approximately two hours after being in collision with a truck, Provincial Police reported.

Garry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, of Cumberland, was believed to have been playing near the back of the truck when the accident occurred, police said.

The truck was driven by Clifford Douglas, of Courtenay. The child was rushed to the hospital at 3:10 p.m. suffering from a fractured skull. The boy died approximately two hours later. Dr. E. R. Hicks attended.

Sullivan's Disclosures On Communism Shock Canadian Labor Ranks

Some Sources Commend Leader's Actions in Allegations Others Claim "Betrayal" of Trade Union Movement

OTTAWA, March 16 (CP).—Reverberations from J. A. (Pat) Sullivan's drama-freighted farewell from the Communist Party and from high union office tonight echoed through the ranks of Canadian labor.

From coast to coast, labor was stirred, not only in the Sullivan-headed Canadian Seamen's Union, which he charged was dominated by Communists, but in many other labor groups, a "large number" of which Sullivan claims are under Communist influence.

Labor ran the gamut from mild eyebrow-lifting to shocked surprise in reacting to the Irish-born Labor chief's action in resigning from the Communist Party, from the presidency of the C.S.U. and from the secretary-treasurership of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and at the same time spilling the beans on his story of working of the Communist Party in Canadian Labor.

Statements came right and left from every Province. Some were commendatory. Some were skeptical. Some indicated head-shaking and doubt.

Two of them—from Harry Davis of Montreal, Sullivan's successor as head of the C.S.U., and T. C. McManus of Montreal, C.S.U. secretary—said Sullivan had "betrayed" the trade union movement. McManus said he was a Communist.

Sullivan, who had admitted to the same designation but said he got out of the party three months ago, was in hiding as the furore over his defection, and his concurrent disclosures of Communist activity in Canadian unions, shook the movement.

Somewhere between 10 p.m. Friday night and 8 a.m. this morning, he vanished. His hotel room was empty at the time of a scheduled press conference this morning, and he apparently had gone "underground."

In his stead, he left a 2,000-word statement outlining what purported to be a design for boring within by the Communist party in Labor's ranks.

A couple of hours after his statement had been handed out over a hotel desk, a messenger arrived at the national office here of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada with a letter announcing his resignation as secretary-treasurer of that organization.

The letter was dated March 1, though Sullivan had said last night he was staying in his T.L.C. job after abandoning the C.S.U. because of its "full" Communist domination. His T.L.C. resignation was accepted by officers, who said they had not seen him for a month—he has been in poor health—and said they were surprised at his press announcement.

The story Sullivan gave in his statement was that of a tangled skein of intrigue that wove deviously through the Canadian Seamen's Union—the only one he dealt with specifically—and even extended into the civil service and into the support of a Montreal policemen's strike a few years ago.

He pulled no punches in mentioning names. Three of those he cited as having acted as go-betweens from the Communist party to the C.S.U. were those of persons mentioned in Canada's spy probe.

They were Fred Rose, former Labor-Progressive Member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier, now serving a six-year term for espionage conspiracy; Sam Carr, former Labor-Progressive party organizer who now is a fugitive from justice, and Freda Linton, for whom an arrest warrant is still outstanding on a charge of acting as a contact in obtaining information for Russia from confidential sources.

Blizzards Hit British Isles

LONDON, March 15 (AP). — New blizzards swept the British Isles tonight and floods that burst into Thames Valley waterworks brought a grim threat of disease to millions.

The new heavy snows were general from the South of England up into Scotland, still virtually cut off by last week's storms.

Nearly 1,250,000 inhabitants of London's East End and eastern and northern suburbs were warned by an emergency B.B.C. broadcast to boil drinking water for supper over their meagre fires.

Labor Here Favors Act Of Sullivan

Warning to Unions Seen by Wilkinson

Leaders of American Federation of Labor groups here were loud in their praises yesterday of the "courageous action" of J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, former president and founder of the Canadian Seamen's Union, in resigning from the Communist Party and stating "agents of Communism" to be active in gaining control of his and other Canadian trade unions.

"Mr. Sullivan's statements that the C.S.U. is a Communist-dominated organization came as no surprise to this council," George Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.), said yesterday.

"For the past three years we have consistently refused to seat delegates of the C.S.U. on our council because of our belief that the union was under the control of a political party; and this in spite of pressure from several sources," he continued.

Mr. Wilkinson said the statements made by Mr. Sullivan should be taken as a warning by all trade unionists in Canada that no union can succeed if the membership allows the group to fall under the control of any political party.

President of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, Percy Rayment also praised Mr. Sullivan's stand against the Communist Party.

National Tie-Up Plan Alleged by Man Here

A nation-wide industrial tie-up was planned by the Communist party in Canada but was foiled early this year, it was asserted yesterday by J. A. Hicks, a former member of the Canadian Seamen's Union, now residing in Esquimalt.

Mr. Hicks also asserted the Communist party has an active underground movement which "is growing fast" and spreading to Government offices.

These and other allegations will be sent to Federal intelligence offices in Ottawa early this week, Mr. Hicks said. In an interview, he presented a general outline of a seven-page statement which he expects will be released to the general public through The Canadian Press from Ottawa.

Remarking on the resignation of J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, founder and leader of the Canadian Seamen's Union, Mr. Hicks said, "That was anticipated some time ago."

Mr. Hicks was a member of the Canadian Seamen's Union for five months of last year, he said, and was involved in the Great Lakes seamen's strike which lasted from May 31 to June 28.

"As a union delegate," he remarked yesterday, "it was not difficult to see that there were members of the Communist party on the national executive."

Statements that have been or will be made by Sullivan "will greatly lower the morale of the Communists," in the opinion of Mr. Hicks. He said he felt the Communist party would begin immediately "to intensify its underground activities."

Expansion Under Guise of Charity Soviet Organ View of Truman's Policy

MOSCOW, March 15 (AP).—Pravda, Communist Party organ, made a bitter second Soviet attack on President Truman's Greek-Turkish policy today, declaring it did not serve the cause of peace and security and "renders valueless" United States declarations of faithfulness to the United Nations.

Echoing the same arguments as those advanced yesterday in Izvestia, the Government newspaper, but even sharper in some of its conclusions, Pravda declared the proposed economic and military aid to Greece and Turkey was "imperialist expansion under the guise of charity."

Now that the two chief newspapers in Soviet Russia have lashed out in two-column-long editorials, it remained for official Soviet leaders to give their reaction. None has yet said a public word.

But it was expected that Joseph Stalin would receive United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall any time now, and that when he did he would speak his mind with utter frankness.

It could be stated with some certainty that if Stalin starts on the subject of President Truman he will say plenty. But Secretary Marshall, it is known, can be blunt too, and such a meeting may turn into a lively evening.

Pravda made an apparent reference to Marshall when it said "the leaders of American policy could do worse than ponder over the fact that under contemporary conditions attempts to realize any plans for world domination are inevitably doomed to failure."

It was evident that the Russians believed that the Secretary of State helped formulate the Truman policy and there were many observers here who believed that Marshall's definition of American democracy, which was laid before the Foreign Ministers' Council yesterday, was a supplement to President Truman's general attack against totalitarianism.

Pravda said that the assistance proposed by President Truman would strengthen "the same reactionary regime in Greece which led the country to bankruptcy," and that "the dispatch of American civil and military personnel, the program of training specially selected, obedient executors of the will of foreign capital in Greece mean in fact that liquidation of the state of independence of Greece and a gross imposing upon her of American domination."

As for Turkey, Pravda said, the country, "as is known, has by no means suffered from the war. How, then, can one explain the necessity to grant urgent assistance to that country."

Declaring the American plan was really to "extend the Monroe Doctrine to the Old World," the newspaper asked why, if Greece and Turkey were really threatened, the United States did not apply to the United Nations Organization.

Krug States Canadian Interests Want to Discuss Coast Railway

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP).—United States Secretary of the Interior Krug today said in an interview that Canadian railroad interests in British Columbia want to talk over with the United States possible construction of a coastal railway to Alaska.

During a news conference in which he said Alaska, like Hawaii, should [illegible]

"I am hopeful that Congress will take up the Alaskan question as soon as they finish with the Hawaiian discussions now underway and that Congress will accord Alaska the same consideration."

Congressional hearings on Alaskan statehood are expected to start April 1.

"I have a letter from Canadian interests on the subject of railroads, wanting to talk over the possibilities," Krug added.

"Building a railroad takes a tremendous chunk of capital. Alaska's development at this period would not warrant such an expenditure and construction of a railroad through British Columbia to Alaska probably will have to await development of the territory's newsprint industry [illegible]

Krug said two main obstacles stand in the way of such development:

1. The terms of United States forest service contracts.

2. Settlement of Indian claims to Alaska's lands and forests.

Financing is not a major problem, Krug said, even though it would cost $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 to build a major plant capable of producing 600 tons of newsprint a day.

Krug said that although support probably would be available to prospective investors, "so far no group is worried about the money—instead there is pressure to find a place to invest money."

"Number of groups are very actively considering pulp plants and one or more of them will go through before too much time passes."

He said the groups have been discussing contracts with the forest service and "I think terms can be reached."

Contract difficulties concerned stumpage rate changes every five years. Investors said they have to think of terms of 20 to 25 years. The forest service is now offering a 50-year contract with prices adjustable every five years on the basis of the price of the finished product.

"This counter proposal is now being studied and we are moving in a direction of getting an agreement," Krug said.

Senator Wants Single Airline

WASHINGTON, March 15 (CP).—Senator McCarran (D., Nev.) appealed to two influential Republicans today to join him in plugging for a single United States airline for international flying.

He made public a letter to Senators White (Me.), Republican leader and chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, and Brewster (Me.), head of an aviation subcommittee, asking them to speed hearings on McCarran's bill to authorize a single company.

Bremster told a reporter he would aid McCarran "because I believe a single American airline is the only way we can meet world competition."

"The British are pouring $600,000,000 into their single line," Brewster said. "The Swedes, Dutch, French and Italians are doing the same thing."

Deft Diplomat Dies in London

LONDON, March 15 (CP).—Lord Tyrrell, first Baron of Avon, and a behind-the-scenes diplomat who helped build the Triple Entente of the Great War era, died yesterday of pneumonia, aged 80.

One of the first chief builders of the Entente Cordiale between Britain and France in 1904, Lord Tyrrell subsequently became private secretary to Sir Edward Grey, one of Britain's best-known foreign secretaries, and served as British Ambassador to France from 1928 to 1934.

Lord Tyrrell worked to merge the Entente Cordiale and the Franco-Russian Dual Alliance into the Triple Entente of 1907, foundation for the Allies of the Great War.

A diplomat who believed in deftness rather than display, Lord Tyrrell often criticized what he called "cinema methods" of conducting foreign affairs—but when he retired from the foreign service he was named chief movie censor. He surprised everyone by saying he was a movie fan and hoped he would get passes.

Douglas Leaves For New Post

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP).—Lewis W. Douglas, departing by plane to assume the post of Ambassador to Britain, said today President Truman's foreign policy speech to Congress was "a clear pronouncement that this time we are not going to withdraw from world affairs."

At a news conference he said he did not think the statement of policy would make his task "more difficult nor easier," but that it did lend increasing importance to his mission.

Portland Man Dies in Blast

COOS BAY, Ore., March 15 (AP).—One man perished and three others were injured in two explosions that rocked the outbound fishing boat Lou Helen off the Coos Bay bar today.

The victim was J. L. Castle, Portland. Palmer K. Albertson, Coquille, captain of the craft; Henry A. Foley, Newport, owner, and Herman Anderson, Seattle, crew member, were taken from the boat by crab fishermen and brought to a hospital here.

Sunken Fortune in Bar Gold Sought by Daring Sea Diver

AUCKLAND, N.Z., March 15 (Reuters).—A fortune in gold sunk aboard the Canadian-Australian line steamship Niagara during the war will be sought again this year when John Johnstone, Australian deep-sea diver, completes plans for a new diving bell.

The liner was mined and sunk off the New Zealand coast in June, 1940, while bringing £2,758,000 ($11,032,000) in gold from South Africa to Sydney, Australia. A major part of this was recovered in salvage operations by Johnstone in 1941.

It is believed 35 bars of gold, valued at $500,000, still are in the sunken hulk of the 13,415-ton vessel.

Johnstone helped to recover more than $10,000,000 in gold, working at a record depth of 438 feet using special gear.

"I hope to prove that salvage is possible at far greater depths than have yet been attempted," Johnstone said today. "My observation chamber is capable of descending 1,000 feet."

The remaining gold belongs to the Bank of England, but the bank has agreed to allow salvage experts 50 per cent of any treasure retrieved.

The new bell weighs 3,500 pounds. It will have a grab attached, operated from inside and will accommodate one man, using oxygen cylinders.

During the salvage operations divers counted 150 enemy mines around the hulk.

Mrs. Roosevelt Approves Grant

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt favors granting of relief to Greece and Turkey, she said today, if it is given without political considerations. Asked if she approved President Truman's policies, Mrs. Roosevelt told a press conference: "Is anyone ever completely satisfied with anything in the world? When we become satisfied, progress stops."

. . Oddities . .

BERLIN, March 15 (AP).—Police announced today they had confiscated 300,000 false teeth from black market sources, and were on the trail of 600,000 more.

OAKLAND, Calif., March 15 (AP).—John Maher, 65, walked into a hospital here and told attendants: "I feel sick."

X-ray tests proved it; he had swallowed his toothbrush.

The brush was removed by surgery. Maher feels much better.

OMAHA, March 15 (AP).—At least one Omaha youngster can't see any point in wasting a good lantern. The small boy walked into a hardware store carrying a red lantern.

"Do you want to buy this?" he asked.

"Where did you get that lantern, son?" the proprietor queried.

"Oh, somebody left it by a hole in the street," the boy explained.

French-Bulgar Breach Widens

PARIS, March 15 (AP).—France severed commercial relations with Bulgaria today in the most serious breach with another power since the liberation and gave two Bulgarian newspapermen 48 hours' notice to leave the country.

The action was taken in retaliation for the expulsion of a woman reporter for the French press agency in Sofia, after incidents stemming from the recent action of the Bulgarian Government in reconverting its currency.

Two reporters expelled were Amy Bakalov, chief of a Bulgarian bureau of information here and correspondent for two Sofia weeklies, and Lovan Strelkov, correspondent for a Sofia daily newspaper.

Governor Acts To End Strike

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 15 (AP).—Governor Wallgren today urged immediate resumption of ferry service on Puget Sound and asked both employer and employees to agree to his appointing a board of arbitration if the dispute is not settled and ferry service restored by 5 p.m. tomorrow.

[illegible] Puget Sound Navigation Company and the striking Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association (C.I.O.), the Governor said:

"I earnestly urge all parties to the current ferry stoppage to resolve their differences at the earliest possible moment.

"The suspension of ferry service is especially grave to the large numbers of people who depend upon ferries for the carriage of essential supplies of all types and for transportation for work and medical care purposes.

"Aside from the great inconvenience of the public at large undue delay in settling the issue will result in financial losses to the workers and operators as well as the general public.

"If the dispute is not settled and ferry service restored by 5 p.m. Sunday, March 16, I request both parties to agree to permit me to appoint a board of arbitration consisting of one representative from the public, one from the operators and one representing the workers.

"I further urge that ferry service be immediately resumed and carried on during the period of arbitration."

St. Patrick Seal Used on Letters

ST. PATRICK, Mo., March 15 (AP).—The green shamrock of St. Patrick's Day will go out on more than 20,000 envelopes and letters today and tomorrow from this little northeast Missouri hamlet (population: 53), the only town in the United States named after Ireland's Patron Saint that has a post office.

Postmaster John Logston, 26, using a single-hand stamp designed by his predecessor, has carefully imprinted the special seal on each letter and "cover"—an envelope mailed to stamp collectors.

March 17 is a holiday to the town's residents and those of the surrounding Catholic farming area.

Bleak English Outlook Described by Reporter

NEW YORK, March 15 (NANA).—In a speech before the Daughters of the British Empire here, Alex Faulkner, New York correspondent of The London Daily Telegraph, predicted that the sufferings of "an appalling Winter" will be overcome by Britain and said that "one of the most virile groups of nations in the world's long story" should not be written on the basis of current difficulties.

Quoting letters from friends, relatives and fellow newspapermen in England, Faulkner gave a vivid picture of the bleak English scene. "It is all very well," he said, "to keep on talking about 'Britain can take it,' when as a matter of fact, Britain can't get it."

"I have just been talking to a man," he continued, "who visited the British manufacturers' export exhibition at South Kensington—the exhibition known to Londoners as the 'Britain can't have it' exhibition.

"He said it was pathetic to see the children looking at toys their parents were not allowed to buy for them. He saw one little girl with her arms round a rocking-horse, and she was weeping.

In discussing the great difference between the goods available in England and here, Faulkner said, "Last Summer I was asked by a hotelkeeper in Vermont whether they had rationing in England."

"It doesn't seem a bad idea," Faulkner went on, "to remind ourselves here fairly frequently that the British ration is: Two ounces of butter, three ounces of margarine, two ounces of bacon, one shilling's worth of meat (about ten ounces), four pennyworth of corned beef, one shell egg if you're lucky, half-a-pound of sugar, two and a half ounces of tea, two and a half pints of milk, and about two ounces of candy. The bread ration is nine ounces a day.

"In addition there are 32 points a month for canned foods, and you can spend all of them on a single can of salmon. These 32 points can also be used for dried eggs, dried fruits, and cereals.

"One thing I think I can say with certainty," Faulkner added, "on the strength of many letters from England—and that is that it would be a grave error to suppose that the British people are looking for charity.

"In such matters as that of the American loan, they were under the impression that the United States, like Canada and South Africa and Australia and New Zealand, would see without being told why it was fitting for a nation which escaped the shock and brunt of war within its borders to share some of the losses of a front-line ally.

"Since the Americans who saw matters in that light constituted a rather feeble minority, and Britain was offered not bread, but bread on the cuff, most of the people at home were undoubtedly sorry that the British Government was not in a position to reject the American loan.

"This spirit of independence is reflected in a letter I had the other day expressing appreciation of President Truman's offer to divert coal from the Continent to Britain, but adding: 'Thank goodness we didn't accept it'."

Only Two Centres in Canada Victoria's Equals in Warmth

Victorians can take pride in the fact that their city was one of the three warmest in the Dominion yesterday.

With a maximum temperature of 65 degrees, Victoria was rivalled by only two other centres, Crescent Valley and Grand Forks, where the temperature also reached that level. Coldest spot in Canada yesterday was Regina, where the mercury hovered around 12 degrees below zero.

Victorians are expected to take to the highways and beaches in great numbers today. The weatherman last night predicted a maximum temperature of 63 degrees, with clear skies. Ten hours of sunshine was recorded yesterday, according to the weatherman, and chances of a repeat performance today were good, he said.

A few sturdy folk were seen yesterday swimming in the waters along Dallas Road, but the majority were content with basking in the rays of the sun.

SWIMMING GALA

A swimming gala, to be sponsored by the Victoria Y.M.C.A., will be held at the Crystal Garden on the night of May 24 in connection with the May 24 celebrations, it was announced yesterday by officials of the committee in charge. Inter-city competition will highlight the program.

The parade committee reported the May 24 parade this year will be "twice as big as last year."

A large number of bands, drill teams, May Queens and other entries are expected from United States cities. They will participate in the parades and other events.

Two shows will be held this year by members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club. The second show will be held at night, with illuminated motorcycles.

CONSTRUCTION OFF

Value of new construction in Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt dropped slightly this week from previous high levels.

Permits for six dwellings and a duplex were among the 37 issued by the city building department last week. Total value of the permits was $70,215.

Seventeen permits were issued in Saanich during the week for a total of $30,875. Eight new houses, valued at $28,000, were included.

Five permits, all for new homes, having a total value of $24,320, were issued in Esquimalt.

OLD COINS SHOWN

An interesting collection of old coins, including a number of bank tokens, was brought to The Daily Colonist yesterday by M. I. Reid, of Victoria.

One of the coins, minted by the Bank of Montreal, bears the inscription: "Province of Canada." Its date cannot be read.

Another coin has the picture of a sailing ship on one side, and on the other are the words: "Ships, Colonies and Commerce."

Mrs. K. Mead-Robins, 634 Michigan Street, has another old coin believed to be valuable as a collector's item. It is a double silver florin from the reign of Charles II and is dated 1682. The coin has been in the family for many years.

FATHER PROUD

Presentation of an "Oscar" to movie star Olivia de Havilland as best actress of the year made her father, Walter A. de Havilland, of Victoria, "very proud," he said yesterday.

The award was made earlier in the week at the 19th annual presentation by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

PLAN FOR GORGE

A plan through which the Gorge waters could be kept clean and serve as a tourist attraction was outlined by John Day before a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group Friday in the chamber's boardroom.

He suggested a lock and sluice be built at the narrow part of the Gorge above Selkirk Water at Harriet Road, and a canal be cut through from the tip of Portage Inlet, crossing the Island Highway to Thetis Cove.

He said clean water could be taken in through the canal, kept in Portage Inlet for a time, and then let out through the Selkirk sluice into the Inner Harbor.

WILL TURN SOD

Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks will turn the first sod for the new "St. David's by the Sea," a parish hall to be erected at Cordova Bay, at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The new structure will cost approximately $15,000 and is the beginning of a building program that will in time include the construction of a church and executive committee rooms. The parish hall will be used temporarily as a church.

Others to attend the ceremony will be Bishop H. E. Sexton, Norman Whittaker, M.L.A., and Reeve E. C. Warren. Rev. W. Hills will officiate.

Visitor to Talk On Bomb Tests

An address and motion picture based on the atom bomb tests at Bikini will be presented by Prof. J. E. Henderson, University of Washington, at the final meeting of the Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, to be held in the auditorium of Victoria High School on the night of April 9.

Dr. A. McKellar, president of the society, said yesterday the motion picture to be shown has been released through the United States Navy at Washington, D.C. Anyone interested is invited to attend the meeting, starting at 8 p.m. Prof. Henderson, who actually witnessed the atomic bomb explosion, will also demonstrate the effects of radioactivity.

Naval Officers Get Training In Factories

Splendid relations between Canadian industry and the armed forces which prevailed during the war, and which resulted in industry providing highly trained technical personnel to meet the needs of modern warfare, are being continued in peacetime.

Details of the present training for navy personnel were listed in a statement received yesterday from the Royal Canadian Navy.

An example is the training now being given to electrical officers of the navy at plants of Canadian General Electric, at Peterborough, Ont., and Canadian Westinghouse, at Hamilton, Ont. Eight officers are at present undergoing six months of training in these plants to familiarize them with the design, manufacture, and testing of heavy electrical equipment.

The courses are of a practical nature in which officers work side by side with the factory staff, running tests on whatever electrical equipment is in production. The courses began January 6.

It is essential, says the naval statement, that electrical branch officers of the Royal Canadian Navy should have an insight into the problems and methods of industry to make them fully qualified electrical engineers. It is hoped industrial courses of this kind will continue to be available.

New Lighting On Causeway Wins Praise

Favorable comment has been received by the city lighting department and the City Council electric light committee on the recently installed new lighting system on the Causeway, Alderman F. G. Mulliner, chairman, said yesterday.

The new light units, utilizing one 500-watt lamp in place of the cluster of five formerly in use, are said by Kenneth Reid, city electrician, to give about 600 per cent more light on the roadway than the previous installation.

The additional light is gained by use of special reflectors and refracting glassware, he said. He pointed out that the Causeway installation is an experiment to determine the type of lighting best suited for the needs of Victoria. He said his department was anxious to hear comments from citizens as to the efficiency of the new system.

Mounted on ornamental poles at a height of about 18 feet, the new lights installed throughout the city would increase considerably the intensity of light on the sidewalks and roadways without any increase in the power consumption, he said.

1947 Tourist Prospects Good C.N.R. President States Here

Prospects for tourist business in Canada during 1947 are "very good indeed," R. C. Vaughan, president and chairman of the Canadian National Railways, said here yesterday.

In an interview at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Vaughan said he thought the tourist traffic in the Dominion this year would reach last year's peak unless world-wide conditions were such that travel was cut down.

"Lots of people want to travel," he said. "The Americans are interested in seeing more of Canada, and many Canadians want to visit parts of their own country."

Mr. Vaughan, who has just returned from a visit to C.N.R. offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle, is spending a few days in Victoria before going on to Vancouver and back to Montreal.

Commenting on the freight car shortage in Canada, Mr. Vaughan noted that it extended all over the continent.

"There are many reasons for the shortage," he explained. "A big postwar business boom, along with a heavy demand for consumer goods, increased exports of grain and other foods have put exceptionally heavy demands on rolling stock."

He said that the five-day week in many companies had delayed production of much needed materials, and mentioned that the railways had not yet caught up on the shortage of materials arising out of the war."

At present, Mr. Vaughan added, the railway officials were studying most carefully modern improvements in railway equipment, and a number of first-class cars and sleeping cars were now on order.

Trend in modern railway travel, he said, was toward private accommodation, and many of the new cars had extensive compartment facilities.

Mr. Vaughan said the C.N.R. "will definitely have a deficit this year unless an increase of freight rates is granted."

Steadiness

Over the period of a lifetime, probably much the same degree of opportunity comes to each individual. It is those, however, who early establish a purpose and who hold to it who succeed. The success may be in any human terms, but the result is seldom an accident; it is the achieved outcome of a conscious and prepared for goal. In those individuals who have in their lives acquired a purpose, and who have held to that, there is to be found one quality, at least, in common. They are steady. There is today some need of steadiness among the human family, for a holding fast to some worthwhile aim.

Life presents its own challenges daily. At each point the individual has the opportunity of choosing wisely or without discrimination, but it is he who will pay for it. Lives lived with a conscious purpose develop a degree of resolution which is lacking in those who merely drift. As each decision is made along the line of that purpose, the choosing becomes easier, the chances of error less. Moreover, purpose is the best answer to distractions, to those things which would blow a life in every and in all directions, according to whim.

Many and diverse have been the goals that men have contended for in this and in every prior age. Materials goals may be reached readily enough, but material purposes are not sufficient in themselves. What is wealth to a man who has none to share it? What is knowledge to anyone if there is no desire to put it to some service? What is power of itself? The intangible and harder goals are the more lasting. Self-control is worthy of any man's life. Self-negation can spell happiness, which no riches can buy. In the end, life weighs both the goal and the individual, and will determine without error what each may be worth.

Saint Paul, in his First Epistle to Timothy, at I Tim. vi. 17, said this: "Nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, Who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."

Ailments Not Economic

Writing in The Calgary Herald, Mr. Richard J. Needham voices some pertinent criticisms about Socialists and other reformers who preach blue ruin every time they speak. They are always drawing pictures of a poverty-stricken and oppressed Canada, when their common sense should teach them the opposite. By any yardstick this is a prosperous nation, the envy of the nationals of many other countries. The standard of life in general is high, the nation's health is good, the employment picture is favorable. There is no urgent need of any economic change. This country is able to supply many of life's basic necessities for other lands, in addition of taking care of its own people.

It is not in a material sense that Canada is lacking, as the Calgary writer points out in two appropriate paragraphs. We quote:

"No, the changes we need in Canada are something broader and deeper than a matter of dollars and cents. If the Socialists really wish to do good, let them ask why life in Canada is so much narrower than it needs to be. Let them ask why there is so little music and color in our lives; let them ask why there is so much meanness and bigotry in our public affairs; let them ask why we put so much emphasis on material progress, at the expense of other and equally, if not more, important kinds.

"Our basic ailments are not economic. They are not a matter of freight rates, family allowances and department store profits. They have to do with our attitude toward life itself—an attitude which is, in this writer's opinion, at least, too canny, too self-righteous, too intolerant. These are troubles which must be cured by poets rather than by politicians, and by songs rather than statistics. We do not think they will be cured by men who stand on platforms, deliberately trying to scare people out of their wits."

The Other Churchill

The death of Mr. Winston Churchill, well-known American author of an earlier decade, naturally stresses the similarity of a famous name. Latterly he was referred to as the "other" Churchill to distinguish him from his famous namesake, but at the turn of the century he gained considerable literary eminence in his own right among his fellow countrymen. His novels are out of fashion nowadays, but they are of a high standard and won deserved notice. Modern readers could do worse than turn to such books as "Richard Carvel" and "Inside the Cup" for interesting reading.

It is not generally known that his English namesake, the former British Prime Minister, also wrote a novel, "Savrola," a circumstance which caused some confusion. It was published in 1900, about the time the American author was gaining attention, and identities became mixed. An exchange of correspondence between the rising young United States author and the newly-elected British M.P. resulted in Britain's Churchill agreeing to use his middle initial "S." in his future publications. As the world knows, they became varied and prolific, in spite of a multitude of other interests.

By contrast the Vermont author receded from public view as his namesake advanced into prominence. The American writer also became a legislator, sitting briefly as a member of the New Hampshire Legislature in the years 1903 and 1905. Another point of similarity lay in his graduation from the United States Naval Academy, which took place 17 years before his namesake first became head of the Royal Navy. In recent years Mr. Churchill did no writing and lived a secluded life as a gentleman farmer. He made his own mark in history, however. His works are a part of the American literary scene, in which they occupy an honorable niche.

Flowing Waters

There is a magic in flowing water dear to the human heart. It begins high in the hills where rain drips gleaming off the face of bald black rocks, or is squeezed drop by shining drop from underneath the melting snow. Runlets flow together in rocky channels above the timberline, small at first, but with increasing voice and insistence. A thin, pale cataract, flashing in the sun, splashes down 100 feet to where verdure has commenced. Rivulets flow together, converging from a rugged shoulder of the hill; and now a mountain rill parts the bending mosses and wears a channel for itself between the roots of thin and wind-blown trees.

Below the timberline, the waters have become a steady voice; one that booms in little gorges and echoes thinly through the forest. Joining others of its fellows, the rill becomes a creek, shouting and leaping as it speeds the waters on their journey to the sea. Grouse drink at its side, standing on rare ferns. Deer cross its shining stones, and leave a wet trail up the side of the bank. The water flows on, dappling with light and shade, noisy in the shallow reaches, gurgling softly in the pools. Willow and alder have begun to appear, and, in deep black clay, the maidenhair fern.

As it flows, the creek meets other creeks, and now a broad stream emerges from the forest to cross an open meadow, with its waving grasses and its blue-eyed pretty flowers. Swallows dart above its bank, dipping and turning their tailored grey coats in the sun. Placid cows with gentle eyes wade knee-deep into the stream, drinking with the sound of sluggish siphoning. The stream rounds a bend and passes the first farm. Now it is water and power and life to man, although it is a long way from its home, the sea. Many miles beyond that point the stream reaches an important confluence, and becomes a river: flowing past villages and towns, rising and falling to the swell of the tide, until it blows silt flowers in the ocean and is home again. For those who have ever made the journey, from source to mouth, there is magic in every foot of the way.

Seen in Passing

Love of the sea has helped many a man. It has built nations, and will do so again times without number around this ageing old planet. To be born within sight of tidewater or to sail on the earth's waters under the open canopy of heaven is to put something into a life which has no counterpart.

What grown-ups love in a little child is the complete honesty that shines from a pair of happy eyes. There is, and can be, no deceit there. That is such a rarity in a grown world that it is always a delight, and something of a surprise.

There is very little in the world worth crying over. All said and done, a tear will neither mend the world nor add to the sum of anyone's happiness. Life, if one would understand it aright, was made for laughter.

'Tis the Last Rose of Summer

'Tis the last rose of summer
Left blooming alone;
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone;
No flower of her kindred,
No rosebud is nigh,
To reflect back her blushes,
Or give sigh for sigh.

I'll not leave thee, thou lone one,
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go, sleep thou with them.
Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed,
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.

So soon may I follow,
When friendships decay,
And from Love's shining circle
The gems drop away!
When true hearts lie withered,
And fond ones are flown,
Oh! who would inhabit
This bleak world alone?

JOURNEY TO TOWN

The bus was three-quarters full when we got on, and experience and the knowledge of what was coming made us make a bee-line for a vacant back seat. It's the only place a man can sit at ease with his conscience. Ladies always ignore the driver's "right down to the back, buses.

We'd hardly settled comfortably in our seat before we reached "the village"—the corner at Monterey and Oak Bay Avenue where drivers salute each other and sports coats and flannels are conspicuous—and the bus slid towards a waiting queue. Some motorists approach a curb as though it were the Queen Elizabeth docking, but our driver must have served on a destroyer; the door opened smoothly six inches from the toe of the first person to come aboard.

As usual, the students got in — after the ladies, of course. Three or four board the bus here every morning, cheery faces belying the gravity of the volumes packed under their arms. How wonderful to be young! With the bus comfortably filled, everyone wormed into a cosy position and the bus turned towards town.

ENTRANCING PROSPECT

It was then we noticed the four-year-old on the knee of a neighbor, apparently a stranger. The youngster was telling his temporary godfather that in two years he'd be going to school, too, and thus early the prospect seemed to entrance him. At the city boundary a lone passenger got on, and the bus gathered speed. We were at the Junction before we knew it, and the students left us for Mount Tolmie.

The driver glanced at his watch. Apparently we were a trifle ahead, for he ambled a bit going through the Dardanelles. It gave us time to reflect for a moment on the place from which this traffic bottleneck drew its name. The original Dardanelles is a bottleneck, too, as the daily press unfortunately makes evident. Although it's no more noticeable than the fascination the curb and the street car tracks have for each other in this stretch of Fort Street. You'd think they want to shut out everything else—and you'd be right. They do.

With few more stops expected as we swung into Yates Street, everyone relaxed and the usual low conversational hum arose.

AMAZING HUMANS

Amazing people, human beings; it's astonishing how some of them can talk. Others go into private study in a bus. One man sat like Rodin's "Thinker," his perch on a high front side-seat adding verisimilitude to the pose. A young girl gazed soulfully out a side window. The driver lifted his hat and ran a brown hand through his hair. Peace settled over this little community, isolated for a few moments from the hurly-burly of the streets.

"There's the firehall," exclaimed the four-year-old suddenly.

Everyone came to with a jerk, and the boy's mother, sitting two seats away, twinkled a "s-shush" that wasn't too reproving. For the boy was factually correct, and everyone else was ignoring this important piece of civic architecture. Firehalls are such somnolent-looking places between fires.

It was equally peaceful across the street. The Junior High School grounds wore a deserted air. Play fields are so forlorn without the rush of impatient feet and the excited voices that make them alive.

We were entering the home stretch and the bus driver sat up straight. The bus dipped down towards the Cook Street crossing and then we wished we had chosen a seat lower down. One of Victoria's best scenic glimpses is to be had as you come down the hill on Yates Street. The Sooke hills rise in false perspective but imposing majesty and the city seems to nestle protectingly at their base. It's an illusion that they're some ten miles away.

PLEASANT INTERLUDE

Now we're almost passing theatre land, at our destination. The conversations stop, and shopping bags are gripped with determination. One man has been enjoying a stolen snooze; he wakens with a protesting yawn. The few who can scarcely wait for the bus to stop before getting off, move up close to the front, almost shutting the driver's view.

He doesn't appear to need it—probably he could glide into the terminus with his eyes shut. There's a return queue waiting to take our places. The nervous ones edge back as the bus veers to the curb and then straightens out its front wheels—a perfect landing at journey's end.

Everyone tumbles out hastily except ourself. It's been a nice, eleven-minute interlude and we extract the most from the last few fleeting seconds.

Why the hurry? Where is everyone going? That's what you often wonder about city crowds, who never stop to remember that the bustle went out of fashion years ago. Ah well, we have to get to the office, so good-bye, bus driver, thanks for a pleasant trip!

Sandwich-Eating Horse Is Symbol of Age

(Reprinted from The Times, London)

The horse that recently got its owner, the Mayor and Corporation of Evesham, into trouble through its excessive liking for sandwiches, has cast yet another shadow on the rakish reputation of the Right Honorable John Montagu. But the fourth Earl of Sandwich, hurriedly munching his bread and beef while seated at the gaming-table, can never have thought that the example of makeshift meals he was setting would be followed by a horse.

The Evesham horse, it appears, had acquired its sophisticated taste from being offered snacks by picnic-makers, and, appetite growing from what it feeds upon, had adopted almost criminal methods to satisfy its craving. It chased one couple along the river bank, and then ate their lunch; it pushed a fisherman into the river, and then disposed of his; and, to get at the luncheon basket of another man, it struck him on the head.

Even an overcoat thrown by a woman over her own and her husband's sandwiches proved no protection. The horse, a believer in direct action, simply ate a hole in the coat and then tucked into the food.

If the horse could have talked in court when the case came up (and a horse with habits like that might do anything) it would probably have pleaded that it was a child of the age. For this is pre-eminently the day of the sandwich. Present difficulties have indeed put an end to the eating of the elaborate kinds so often seen before the war—sandwiches with smoked salmon, toasted sandwiches, and sandwiches of several storeys each filled with rare and different delicacies — and the single-slice enchantments of the Scandinavian Smorgashbord are no longer what they were, but the influence of the noble earl's makeshift upon daily life remains.

The snack-bar still bids far to oust entirely the leisurely and honest meals of other days. The world has seen civilizations based on wheat, maize, and rice, but, with perhaps some slight competition from the soya bean that is trying so hard to filter into our diet, it is the sandwich that has imposed itself upon the last vestiges of the old feudal system, which was supported by barons of beef and other honest food.

Lord Melchett, in a letter lately published in these columns, has traced the origin of the feudal system to the introduction of the stirrup into Europe by the barbarian hordes that, unable to find a gap in the Great Wall of China, turned west and played such a large part in the destruction of the Roman Empire. The stirrup, adopted by the west, made it possible for a man in full armor to fight on horseback, and with a knight in armor came the system that gave both the horse and the horseman their noble status.

The blow given to the unfortunate picnic-maker by the hungry horse of Evesham was therefore in some sense the impact of one civilization upon another, an attempt by the age of horses and of leisure in movement and eating to assimilate the new era of motor-cars, speed, and sandwiches; in short, feudalism's last kick.

But if in these days, when marshals, formerly humble horse-servants, are the leaders of mechanized armies, more horses should try to adapt themselves to the changing times by getting the sandwich habit, the repercussions upon life may be considerable and bring advantage to none but sovereigns urgently requiring a mount, who will need to offer, not their kingdoms for one, but only a sandwich.

CREEPERS OR CAMPERS?

Sir,—I see by Thursday's edition of the paper that parking meters are in the news again. In advocating the installation of meters in Victoria, Mayor George refers to many Victoria drivers as "creepers," those who move their cars a few inches every hour to avoid tickets for overtime parking. As a result, he says, many are parking on the streets during the entire business day.

In my opinion, parking meters encourage exactly the same situation. Any person can come to town early, secure a good parking location, and hold it all day long merely by returning to deposit a nickel every hour. I think the so-called "creepers" would soon become "campers." Maybe it is the never-ending flow of loose change which influences the decision of most of the cities which have parking meters. No doubt they are a very rich source of revenue.

BEES AND SPRAYING

Sir, — As this Spring blossoms forth it promises to be a very good year for both the fruit grower and the beekeeper. Let us try to co-operate. Arsenate of lead spray is a big enemy of the beekeeper. Last year it alone was responsible for depopulating 90 per cent of the hives in Victoria to such an extent that they were unable to bring in a pay-crop, and in many cases the bees starved this Winter from lack of stores.

The fruit grower might say, "Why should I worry about the bees?" Well, the Department of Agriculture acknowledges that bees in British Columbia are as important for pollination as for honey. Under favorable weather conditions the crop yields of fruit and seeds are increased by 200 to 500 per cent. You could see raspberries near an apiary on a warm Spring day!

The addition of two to three ounces of crude carbolic acid to each 100 gallons of spray will avoid all loss of bees, without any harm to the plants or the effectiveness of the spray. So please let the bees have a chance!

This information was obtained from the Department of Agriculture and has been proven from 1944 on. The crude carbolic acid can be obtained from any commercial drug house and is very inexpensive. The average gardener will not need many drops. We will all benefit by co-operation. CHARLIE WARREN.

"GREAT BRITAIN"

Sir, — It seems a pity to deflate Miss Ellen Hart's eloquent panegyric on Great Britain, but it should be done in the interest of historical accuracy, as well as of sound prose composition. Miss Hart tells us that "it was not Great Britain's wealth, crown jewels or Empire that inspired the definition Great," and proceeds, by implication, to account for it by a rather vague theory of moral greatness. When or by whom Britain was first called Great Miss Hart does not say. But the facts are simple.

There are two Britains, each originally called by the Romans "Britannia." The lesser one (which we now call Brittany) was Britannia Minor; the larger, by contrast, being ultimately termed Great Britain. The name was formally established by the Act of Union (1706), though James I had styled himself King of Great Britain in 1603. It is interesting to note that by the French the two Britains are distinguished as Bretagne and Grande Bretagne.

A young man who recently moved here from Duncan now knows something about the pitfalls of a busy city. While strolling along Broad Street in the brilliant sunshine on Thursday afternoon, his eyes caught those of a strikingly beautiful girl. He smiled. She smiled. "Er, er, didn't I meet you somewhere before, or did I?" he ventured. "Quite likely," I travel around the province a lot," the man stammered. "Yes, are you?" she inquired, with another smile that showed her perfect teeth. Before the young man had taken a dozen more steps, his charming companion whisked out a magazine subscription blank and relieved him of $5 for 100 consecutive issues of a Winnipeg publication. She thanked him courteously and left him on the sidewalk with his mouth wide open and a receipt in his right hand . . . "Watch your language here. There are two words I do not want to hear in this office. One is 'swell' and the other is 'lousy.'" a businessman said to his new office boy. "Sure. What are the two words?" the lad asked . . . If teacher strikes continue in the United States, we may read of children picketing for teachers, instead of bringing apples and flowers to school . . . From an air line advertisement: "Insurance companies have unearthed an interesting statistic. The risk involved in driving one's automobile 500 miles is equaled only by one scheduled air line passenger flying a total of 340,000 miles" . . . The city of Granby, Que., which has a population of about 20,000 persons, built a city hall large enough to accommodate a museum, public library, health centre, commercial exhibition, fire department and home builders' advisory service. Office space left over is rented for $3,300 a year.

Victoria in Beard and Crinoline

From Files of The British Colonist for March, 1860

By G. E. MORTIMORE

Tales of towns that might have been are numerous and often dull. A lively, if apocryphal, yarn of this kind was recounted second-hand by The British Colonist. The town in question was not merely a one-horse town, but a one-mule town, and the lone mule was both the town's fortune, and its downfall. Said The Colonist:

"One day last Summer, whilst traveling on the Sound, we had for companion an old fellow who in the Summer of '58 had invested largely in lots at Whatcom and Sehome, when these town bid fair to rival Victoria in commercial importance."

(This column had never heard of either Whatcom or Sehome until now. But perhaps Whatcom and Sehome, if they still exist, have never heard of us either).

At any rate, the old land speculator lost his shirt, and this is the way it happened:

"For some weeks after Whatcom had been started, there was only one mule in the place. The trail had been commenced, and people had begun to flock there. To keep up appearances, and induce strangers to settle or buy their outfits in town, the speculators devised a plan whereby they imagined their sanguine hopes might be realised."

So they used the "come-on" device, one of the oldest tricks on record. In this little performance the mule played a leading, if tragic, part.

"Every morning, before daylight, the one solitary mule, before mentioned, was led off by a circuitous route, brought around to within a few miles of the town and about dusk would be driven back on the trail into the city by some rough specimen of humanity who would declare to the crowd that he had just come through from Thompson River; the trail was the best in the world; been only four days making the trip; plenty of wood and water, etc., etc.

"As the same man never led in the animal twice, and as the poor mule suffered a change in appearance every day, no suspicion was engendered in the minds of the people." They, poor dupes, saw the one pathetic mule as a multitude of mules journeying to and from the town to all points of the compass.

"This plan was kept up for several days, speculators in town lots waxed exceedingly rich, and Whatcom bid fair to eclipse all its competitors.

"But, alas! for all human expectations and the hopes of doomed Whatcom," mourned The Colonist. The strain of his multiple role began to tell on the poor mule. He grew weary of trying to be so many mules all at once. Maybe he developed symptoms of split personality. At any rate . . .

"One fine morning the owner of the mule went to the stable for the purpose of leading him forth to go through the same course of deception, when, to his infinite horror, he discovered that his animal was dead!

"'And sure enough,' concluded the old man, wiping his eyes, 'Whatcom did go in, and if it hadn't been for that nasty, pesky little ansmile, up and dyin' so soon, I'd had my pile sure.'"

Empires have been lost for no greater cause.

Body Suggests Investigation Of Allegations

Officers of the Victoria Branch of the S.P.C.A. suggested to the British Columbia S.P.C.A. yesterday, through counsel, that the Attorney-General be asked to appoint a responsible person to investigate allegations made by Sidney Pickles against them "in connection with the policy of the branch in carrying out its duties."

In a letter to Miss C. J. de Vos Van Steenwyk, president of the British Columbia S.P.C.A. in Vancouver, R. D. Harvey, acting for the Victoria branch, suggested that the person appointed to inquire into the allegations, if necessary could also investigate "the affairs of the Victoria branch in relation thereto."

"The officers of the Victoria Branch are of the opinion that the charges made by Mr. Pickles should be reduced to writing, setting out full particulars and that following receipt of the same in that form, the Attorney-General should be requested to act," the letter said.

"It is felt that Mr. Pickles should be required to substantiate each and every charge that he has leveled against the officers of the Victoria branch, and that matters have reached the state that the full facts in connection with such charges should be given the utmost publicity," the letter continued.

"If there should be proved anything to the detriment of the S.P.C.A.," it added, "a suitable remedy should be applied."

During a Vancouver S.P.C.A. meeting last week, which Mr. Pickles attended in company with a delegation from Victoria, Mr. Pickles accused the Victoria branch of "tyranny."

He attacked a by-law of the Victoria branch which he said, "provided that any member commercially interested in animals should not be eligible for office on the executive of the Victoria branch."

Following Mr. Pickles' remarks, Miss Van Steenwyck said that "a by-law giving the executive committee power to refuse membership was unconstitutional," it was reported.

In this regard, Mr. Harvey's letter pointed out that "if there is anything in the constitution adopted by the Victoria branch contrary to any regulations of the society or unconstitutional, it can and should be remedied without delay."

Contributions To Red Cross Total $41,230

At the end of the second week in the Canadian Red Cross Society's current drive to raise $65,000 in Victoria, campaign officials reported yesterday that a total of $41,230 had been collected.

Money collected during the drive will be used to further the peacetime plans of the Red Cross in Canada, including its blood transfusion service, disaster relief, outpost hospitals and many other services.

Success of the blood donor service is revealed in a Canadian Press dispatch from Vancouver, which states that more than 700 British Columbia citizens have received free blood transfusions through this service during the last month.

Dr. Walter Rice, medical officer in charge of the service, said figures issued March 3, end of the first month's operations, showed 747 pints of blood had been distributed.

Under a three-way agreement, donors, Red Cross and hospitals cooperate to give free transfusion services to patients.

HOW WE UPHELD VALUE at Eddy's

Many times during the years of most acute shortages we could have obtained more merchandise — American Merchandise — but of course the higher prices of such imported merchandise WOULD NOT have been in line with Eddy's definite and unalterable policy of REAL VALUE for every dollar. We maintained our reputation for VALUE and we also kept our friends. And now we are happy to be able to offer ever-increasing quantities of Canadian merchandise with every article the utmost in VALUE.

Kitto, Port Alberni, and Mr. Wilfred Thomas Amos, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Amos, Saanichton. Mrs. F. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in an oatmeal beige dressmaker suit with pink blouse and black hat trimmed with sandy pink roses and veil, and black accessories. She carried a prayer book with bouquet of orchids and streamers.

Mrs. Walter Scott, of Kamloops, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a light navy dress, a white trellis hat with navy veil, and white accessories. A corsage of red roses and gardenias completed her ensemble.

Mr. David Amos, brother of the groom, was best man, and James Amos and Dwight Green were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in St. Mark's Hall, where Mrs. Kitto in a dove grey ensemble with turquoise trim and matching tailored hat, and Mrs. Amos in a black dress with floral trim, received the guests. After a short honeymoon the young couple will make their home at Elk Lake.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a street-length dress of heavenly blue crepe fashioned with sweetheart neck, the cap sleeves and tapered peplum being edged with loopings of matching crepe. Her white pillbox model hat was encircled with white roses and trimmed with blue veiling. A single strand of pearls was her only ornament. To complete her costume she wore long white gloves and carried a white prayer book topped with gardenias and pink rosebuds showered with split carnations.

Attending her sister was Miss Avis Butler attired in goblin gold crepe with dropped shoulder neckline and black plastic belt. She wore a flower-hat in shades of mauve and gold and carried a shower bouquet of mauve irises, white carnations and heather.

The best man was Mr. William Jacobs, Vancouver, and the ushers were Mr. Robert J. Pinniger and Mr. Thomas P. Allan.

The reception was held at the Kit Kat, where Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Allen received with the young couple. The table was decorated with lighted tapers bedded in Spring blossoms, and centred with the three-tiered cake. Mr. John Johnstone gave the toast to the bride. Cables from relatives in London, England, were read.

For a honeymoon on the Mainland, the bride wore a Burgundy gabardine suit with white and black accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. They will make their home at 59 Menzies Street, on their return.

New First Lady Loves Home Life

By J. D. HOLDSWORTH

Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia, March 15 (CP). —Mrs. William John McKell, who becomes Australia's first lady as wife of the newly-appointed and Australian-born Governor-General, has played an unobtrusive part in her husband's career as Labor Premier of New South Wales.

With her husband, two daughters and one son, she has lived quietly in an eight-roomed brick house in the Sydney suburb of Redfern for the 27 years of her marriage, entertained on a small scale, and appeared at only a few public functions.

Assisted by her daughters and occasional domestic help, she has done the cooking and housework for the family and for dinner parties, and made some of her daughters' clothes.

Mrs. McKell, who visited England and the United States with her husband in 1945, shares his love of country life and has spent much time on the family's property at Goulburn, 100 miles southwest of Sydney.

Her keenest interest is in day nursery and kindergarten work, and she has raised large sums of money for a day nursery in Redfern. During the war she was a tireless charity worker.

As mistress of Yarralumla, luxurious residence of the Governor-General in Canberra, and Admiralty House, 27-room vice-regal residence in Sydney, Mrs. McKell will have to entertain on a much larger scale, attend many public functions, and manage the two residences, a big problem because of the shortage of domestic help.

Mrs. McKell and her daughters, Betty, 24, and Pat, 22, dress with quiet taste. Mrs. McKell prefers soft dresses, plain black, black and white, or pale shades. Her daughters are fond of tailored clothes.

$56 STOLEN

Theft of $56 from her home was reported to city police by Mrs. P. A. Jones, 2154 Belmont Ave., at 6:25 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Jones reported she had discovered the house had been entered and $56 taken from a purse lying on the kitchen table.

Four twenty-five cent pieces were left in the change pocket, she told police.

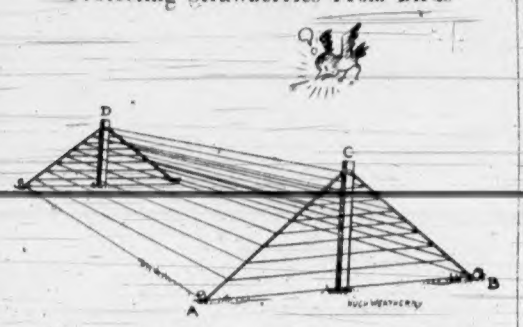
The Garden Column

Protecting Strawberries From Birds



HERE is a simple way to keep the robins out of your strawberries. Place two stakes in the ground, one at either end of the strawberry bed. Run a piece of heavy cord from the tops of the stakes to pegs driven in the ground at the corners of the beds. The cord will form a triangle A C B, as shown in the drawing. Next, run black cotton thread, about No. 20, back and forth between the two cord triangles, as shown in the diagram. The threads should be four to six inches apart. Be sure to have a thread between the two posts, and also across the ends of the frame. This type of protector keeps the birds out, but lets the rain and sunshine in.

Time for Pruning

March is the month during which Spring gardening preparations start in earnest, states W. H. Warren, Victoria horticulturist and city parks superintendent. First of all, we should complete all pruning of trees and shrubs, with the exception of Spring blooming shrubs, which are pruned after they flower, and roses which are pruned any time after the middle of the month.

"Overgrown tall shrubs and hedges of laurel, privet, etc., will make a quick recovery if they are cut back hard at this time. Do not be afraid to be drastic. They may appear ugly for a short time, but usually the drastic cutting back will produce better results than a half-hearted attempt to get the hedge into shape. Particular attention should be given material which overhangs street property lines and neighboring properties."

What to Plant Now

Sow peas, broad beans, carrots, beets, lettuce and parsnips. Also plant shallots and well-hardened cauliflower and cabbage plants. Check the roots of cruciferous plants which have been purchased to make sure they are not affected with club-root in order not to introduce this hateful disease into your garden soil.

An indoor sowing of onions will still give the larger-sized bulbs if sown at once and transplanted. About the middle of March tomatoes may be sown indoors. This is a good time, too, to check vegetables in storage and remove sprouts from potatoes. If you want the best in seed potatoes and have a cool storage space, it pays to make purchases early.

About Garden Space

In a small garden such as most city lots provide, it is not advisable to grow corn, cabbage, cucumber, egg plant or marrow, as these demand too much room. There are numerous other vegetables which thrive in small areas and give much greater reward to the amateur gardener than any of those named above. Carrots, onions, beet-root, dwarf peas, bush beans, turnips, parsley, lettuce, radish and some others do well in confined spaces.

Nursery Stock

All shrubs, trees, bushes and vines, states Gordon Lindsay Smith of Canadian Garden Service, grown or started in a commercial nursery are termed, nursery stock. There is a wide range in price and just as wide in quality. The real test is whether or not the stock will grow quickly and sturdily. If roots are dry and upper part of plant shrivelled brownish and lacking buds then one can be quite sure he paid too much for the stock.

Plants, shrubs and vines should be kept cool and moist, and if they cannot be planted in permanent location right away should be "heeled in" temporarily in trench with the soil heaped up well above the roots. When replanting it is advisable to supply plenty of water and keep watered for first few weeks. Planting is best done in cool of evening or on dull days, and some shade from the hot sun is advisable with tiny things.

Sweet Peas

Sweet peas should be sown as early as possible in well-drained soil, preferably in previously prepared trench. Hardy annuals should be sown at once. Lawns may be rejuvenated by raking and either spreading a thin layer of compost over it or applying a complete fertilizer at the rate of about two pounds per one hundred square feet.

Following good rains, lawns should then be rolled several times during Spring months to give them smooth finish. Weeding is best left until a little later in the season when 2-4-D may be applied.

Divide Perennials

Perennial plants may be divided this month. Every two years such plants as phlox, helium, Michaelmas daisies, etc., should be dug up, parted and planted afresh. Usually the centre part of the perennial is thrown away and the healthy outer parts put back. This replanting rewards the labor with much larger flowers.

Rock Gardens

Plants suitable for rock gardens require little attention, skill or special soils, the experts state. It is not necessary to have a knowledge or rare plants to attain success with a rockery. Arabis, Aubretia, Alyssium Sagatilis, Sedum, Creastium Tomentosum, Dianthus, Saxifrage are all easily grown. Cerastium Tomentosum is a free-growing plant, Arabis blooms profusely, Aubretias are indispensible in a rock garden, Alyssium produces wealth of golden bloom and Sedum furnish foliage as well as lovely flowers.

Essential in a rockery is the old-fashioned Pink or Dianthus. With its carnation-like blooms, Saxifrage Umbrose, known popularly as London Pride, is good to look at when in full flower. These are all good varieties for the amateur rock gardener to experiment with.

Spring Show

Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society will hold their Spring show at the Crystal Garden, April 2 and 3. Catalogues can be had on application to the secretary, 3155 Rutland Road, Victoria. This is the first show of this character staged by the society in some years.

Spraying Time

Trees and shrubs which require a dormant spray should be done this month. Roses should be sprayed, too, and it is a good plan to do the ground around the plants with a dormant strength solution or Bordeaux spray.

Big Extension Is Planned By Store Here

Large-scale expansion to provide more than 46,000 square feet of additional space will be commenced "in the very near future" at the Standard Furniture Company on Yates Street, Roy Denny, a partner, announced yesterday.

The work will complete prewar expansion plans which were interrupted in 1939, Mr. Denny explained.

"At that time we planned to build a 46-foot extension on the back of the store, five stories high," he added. "We were able to complete only the building for one story, taking in the main and mezzanine floors."

The new extension, he said, would take in three stories and would give a better display area for furniture, especially in bedding, drapery and carpet departments. In addition, shipping and service facilities in the store will be extended.

While the alterations are going on, Mr. Denny reported, parking in the rear of the store around the View Street entrance will not be restricted, and the entrance will be kept open during the operation.

Books and Authors

Latest Ryerson Poetry Chapbook contains a collection of poems by Miss M. Eugenie Perry, a third-generation Canadian who has made her home here for many years.

"Song in Silence and Other Poems," consists of a group originally published in Canadian and United States magazines and newspapers, including The Daily Colonist.

Miss Perry's work has appeared in scores of publications, including the British Isles as well as this continent.

Of Irish-Scotch ancestry, Miss Perry was born in Kansas, Can. In addition to her writing, she finds time to be editor of the "Home Chat" page of The Western Recorder under the name of Perry Page. Her first Chap-book, "Hearing a Far Call," was published in 1942.

MISS M. EUGENIE PERRY

"Song in Silence" appears in four parts, Summer, Autumn, Winter and Spring. Other poems in this latest work are "Hummingbird," "Nettle-Shy," "The Lonely Shell," "Ivory, Apes, and Peacocks," "Fall of the Mighty," "Penumbra," "Whom You Must Fear," "Tanager," "Terror in Beauty," "Scroll and Color," "The Only Day," and "The Mainspring."

Short stories, children's features and plays are other works published by this author.

Early last year, "Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Strong," the result of voluminous correspondence with secretaries of deaf, hard-of-hearing and lip reading clubs from Victoria to Halifax was published for distribution among clubs included in the survey.

Published by the Ryerson Press, of Toronto, the limited edition of 500 copies of the poems will sell at 75 cents.

Judge Francis J. Donahue, of Massachusetts, fell asleep after ten minutes of reading "Forever Amber." Apparently he was not unduly tired at the time, for his comment was made while ruling that Kathleen Winsor's novel was "not obscene, indecent or impure." As a result its sale will be restored in Massachusetts, of which staid old Boston is a part.

The book itself was brought to trial in a three-day session last week which was the first test of a new Massachusetts Censorship Law, unique in the United States.

Court action was started by Clarence A. Barnes, Massachusetts Attorney-General, on a petition alleging that the novel of a gay beauty of England's restoration court was "obscene."

In 1827, the first part of John James Audubon's "The Birds of America" was published in England. It consisted of five of the famous and beautiful plates, price two guineas. During the next 11 years, the 435 plates of the original set came out, five at a time, making a total price of more than 182 pounds, or $1,000. Known as the Elephant Folio, you can buy the original impressions now, probably in four volumes, at $15,000 with any luck.

For common or garden use, however, Macmillans, Toronto, has just brought out the fifth printing of the Elephant Folio, reproduced in a single volume, at $7.95.

Seven books are threatening to become perennial favorites at the Public Library here. For the—we forget how many—week, these books were again tops in popularity. They are "The Egg and I," "Forever Amber," "I Chose Freedom," "Unforgettable, Unforgotten," "Remember Me," "Pavilion of Women," and "Driftwood Valley." Two are by British Columbia authors. "Driftwood Valley" is the Stanwell-Fletcher epic and Victorian Edward F. Meade wrote "Remember Me." The latter work is the choice as the novel in The Montreal Standard's current issue.

Current Reviews

"New Life of Mr. Martin," by Robert Briffault; S. Reginald Saunders; $3.50.

A fantastic novel built around the underlying theme that goodness will eventually prevail in the world, this story at times reaches heights of great literary merit, and other times is just downright silly.

It involves Anthony Whitford, a penniless idealist, who, through a coincidence is left a large sum of money which he turns into billions almost overnight. Revoking his identity through another quirk of fate, he assumes the role of a millionaire playboy with exotic tastes, who sets out to right all the wrongs of society, with those of England in particular.

The novel starts in the slums of London's East End, and moves from here to the cloistered drawing rooms of England's blue blood in the 1930's; to a luxurious mountain palace in Morocco and back to London again.

Mr. Briffault, who has had an amazing career as a surgeon and anthropologist, is a writer of great force and imagination, but his main characters and plot keep this novel from being great. He sounds a little like Evelyn Waugh in spots, and other times rambles like one of Thomas Wolfe's novels, without having quite enough of their talent.

A surprising climax and a good deal of lusty humor and his many colorful incidental characterizations highlight an otherwise uninspiring story.—J.O'C.

"New Guinea Headhunt," by Caroline Mytinger; The Macmillan Company of Canada; $4.

Before war in the Southwest Pacific made millions unheard-of place names in the maze of Pacific islands better known than those of many sizeable Canadian towns with a hundred times the population, the name New Guinea meant to most people on this continent probably even less than the word America meant to the dark-skinned natives of the vast island wilderness.

New Guinea then was just one of those places. Probably not one person in a hundred could have told you with any degree of certainty where the world's second largest island was, without checking an atlas first.

Impenetrable jungles, nasty cannibals, weird native cults and rites—all that sort of thing. The type of place reserved for intrepid explorers all done up in sun helmets, rifles, revolvers and the orthodox jungle kit of the hero of adventure stories.

NOT FOR WOMEN— BUT GIRLS LANDED

Definitely not for women—except perhaps the glamorous blonde of the imaginative movie. And most definitely not for a couple of American girls armed with nothing more formidable than a collection of paintbrushes and tubes with which to go head hunting.

Yet Caroline Mytinger, author of "New Guinea Headhunt," and her friend, Margaret Warner, keeper of their often nearly empty purse, landed on the island on just such an expedition shortly before the war turned New Guinea into a proving ground for all the mechanical demons of battle.

Twelve hundred miles long and 15,000 feet high in the middle, New Guinea then was still a vast mystery, except in a few administrative and trading settlements, and the two young women had no more idea what they were up against than a Papuan headhunter dropped by parachute into the centre of New York.

But they had what is perhaps the best of all armament, a keen sense of humor, backed by physical endurance which Miss Mytinger never once mentions in her narrative, but which very obviously was far above average.

Only those who have been through New Guinea's steaming, stinking jungles, with their infestation by everything that creeps and crawls, bites and stings, can have any conception of what two young women had to put up with.

EXPERIENCES MAKE FASCINATING STORY

Out of those experiences and the contacts made with white administrators, pidgin-talking settlement natives, and primitive witch doctors and connoisseurs of human flesh as the main course for dinner, Miss Mytinger has woven a fascinating story. Small wonder that it has commanded such remarkable sales in the United States.

The author and her companion went to New Guinea to paint portraits of Papuans and thus preserve a record for the future of an early type of man rapidly becoming extinct. With unflagging high spirits they met all sorts of difficulties, trying to keep in funds, to find transportation, to fight hardship and tropical diseases. Always able to see the comic side of things, they had a lot of fun—fun that they share with readers.

There is a great deal of interesting anthropological material in this book, but it is enjoyable primarily as a lively, informal account of amazing adventures in the South Seas.

Painting primitive peoples has been of special interest to the author because, she says, one has the added satisfaction of creating a permanent record of a kind of human being fast disappearing from the earth. A student of anatomy as well as art, Miss Mytinger traveled extensively in the West Indies and the Solomon Islands before embarking on her remarkable exploration of New Guinea.

This is an outstanding book, informative, delightfully amusing, and with a ring of sincerity and authenticity.—R.M.

"Mrs. Tim Gets a Job," by D. E. Stevenson. Oxford University Press, Toronto. $3.

Miss Stevenson's 18th novel is the delightful tale of Hester Christie, who desperately feels the need of something to fully occupy her time in wartime England while her husband, Col. Tim Christie, is on active service in Egypt.

Grace MacDougall, Hester's best friend, takes it upon herself to find the colonel's lady the position of assistant to Erica Clutterbuck, a forceful character who operates Tocher House, a boarding hotel at Ryddleton.

In the fish shop queue at the small town, citizens meet their friends to inquire about Jeanie's tonsils and Andrew's rheumatism, and discuss news of the day.

Many amusing situations develop at Tocher House, with Hester often unhappily in the centre. Her warm-hearted, understanding nature always see her through.—G.B.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠	2 ♥
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West cashed two hearts, then shifted to a diamond. Dummy's ace was put up, and declarer led a low trump to his jack. West's failure to follow suit was a severe shock to declarer, and an insurmountable obstacle at this point. For now, no matter how South manoeuvred, East was sure to win two trump tricks with his A-10-9. The contract was lost.

Even if there had been no adverse bidding South's management of trumps would have merited criticism. As it was, West's overcall—a dangerous effort, incidentally—should have put South on the alert for a bad break in trumps. Obviously, West had made his bid with no card of value in the minor suits, so it was only to be expected that he had distributional values as compensation. Another long suit, with corresponding shortness in spades, might constitute those values.

In any case, South could see that the only danger of losing the contract was the possibility that trumps were banked all four in one hand. If, by weird chance, West had these four, nothing could be done about it. Thus, the logical plan was to guard against a position that could be rectified—all four trumps in East's hand. The right play was the queen from dummy. Then, with the situation revealed, South would have an easy time of it, leading trumps twice more from dummy, smothering the 10-9-7 under the K-J-8 without further loss.

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP).—Spots of resistance appeared in today's stock market but the list finished its fifth successive losing week with most leaders remaining in minus territory and the overall average at a new low for the year.

Foreign clouds, doubts regarding tax relief, spiraling commodities and business trends persisted as arguments for speculative and investment caution. Professionals, as throughout the week, nibbled at favorites on the idea the list was oversold.

Transfers for the short stretch of 370,000 shares compared with 740,000 last Saturday. For the week the aggregate was 4,808,150 shares against 5,321,470 the week before.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .1 of a point at 63.8, a bottom since last December 6. The drop for the week was 1.4 points.

Little Stories for Bedtime

YANK YANK THE NUTHATCH RETURNS

Perhaps you can guess how pleased Peter Rabbit was one morning when, as he hopped over the old stone wall into the Old Orchard, he heard the voice of an old friend. It was the voice of Yank Yank the Nuthatch, and while it was far from being sweet there was in it something of good cheer and contentment. At once Peter hurried in the direction from which it came.

On the trunk of a tree he caught sight of a grey and black and white bird about the size of Downy the Woodpecker. The top of his head and upper part of his back were shining black while the rest of his back was bluish-grey. The sides of his head and his breast were white. The outer feathers of his tail were white, with black patches near their tips.

But Peter didn't need to see how Yank Yank was dressed in order to recognize him. Peter would have known him if he had been so far away that the colors of his coat did not show at all. You see Yank Yank was doing a most surprising thing, something no other bird can do. He was walking head first down the trunk of that tree, seemingly quite as much at home and unconcerned in the queer position as if he were right side up. He lifted his head and called a greeting which sounded very much like the repetition of his own name. Then he turned and began to climb the tree as easily as he had come down it.

"Welcome home, Yank Yank!" cried Peter, hurrying up quite out of breath.

Once more Yank Yank turned so that he was head down and his eyes twinkled as he looked down at Peter. "You're mistaken, Peter," said he. "This isn't home. I've simply come down here for the Winter. You know home is where you raise your children, and my home is in the Great Woods further north."

"Well anyway, this is a kind of home. It's your Winter home," protested Peter, "and I certainly am glad to see you back. The Old Orchard wouldn't be quite the same without you. Did you have a pleasant Summer? And if you please, Yank Yank, tell me where you built your home and what it was like."

"Welcome home, Yank Yank!" cried Peter

"Yes, Mr. Curiosity, I had a very pleasant Summer," replied Yank Yank. "Mrs. Yank Yank and I raised a family of six and that is doing a lot better than some folks I know, if I do say it. As to our nest, it was made of leaves and feathers and it was in a hole in a certain old stump that not a soul knows of but Mrs. Yank Yank and myself. Now is there anything else you want to know?"

Prices of Cattle Higher for Week

OTTAWA, March 15 (CP).—The Agriculture Department in its livestock review today reported cattle receipts were generally higher this week, with prices showing a more firm trend.

At Toronto, weighty steers made a general top at $15, and best butchers, $14.50. Steers at Montreal were $13.50-$14, and good cows, $10-$11.

The better grade of steers at Winnipeg brought $14-$14.50; Calgary, $13.50-$14.25; Edmonton, $14.50; Prince Albert, $13.35-$13.50; Moose Jaw, $14; Saskatoon, $13-$14; Regina, $14.25-$14.50, and Vancouver, $14-$14.75.

Dairy cattle exports to the United States for the week totaled 709 head, compared with 1,060 in the corresponding week last year. This year's exports so far total 5,443, and in the same period last year were 7,632.

Calf prices were generally unchanged, except for a decline of $1 at Montreal. Toronto sold best veals at $16-$17; Montreal, $16; Winnipeg, $15-$16.50; Calgary, up to $14; Edmonton, $13-$13.75; Prince Albert, $13.50; Moose Jaw, $13-$14; Saskatoon, $14-$15, and Regina, $13-$14.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP).—Wheat advanced to the best level since 1917 and corn to a peak since 1920 in heavy buying on the Board of Trade today.

Most of the strength in wheat was concentrated in old crop months. New crop deliveries lagged and were lower than the preceding close most of the session. Oats also failed to display market strength.

In advancing above $1.73, March corn rose above the peak established in July last year shortly after price ceilings were removed. Corn reached $1.97 1-4 in 1920.

Last minute selling, which was most pronounced in wheat, reduced extreme gains and in some cases substituted losses.

Ivan Ackery, manager of the Orpheum Theatre in Vancouver has won the annual Quigley silver award. This award is given to theatre men who have demonstrated a high order of showmanship.

This is the first time the award, presented by the New York trade paper, Motion Picture Herald, has gone outside the United States.

Robert Montgomery, who made a name for himself as a director with his unusual "The Lady in the Lake" film with the camera playing the first-person hero, has moved from M-G-M to Universal-International. There he will produce, direct and act in screen plays which he will select personally.

Maurice Chevalier has blown into New York jaunts straw hat radiant smile and all.

The old Chevalier Gallic charm is just as strong as it ever was and Montreal and Canada will be seeing it again after 12 years in May.

Chevalier left the United States because he objected to being treated like a suspected criminal in film colony. For some years he did not make his picture and then came the chance to star in Rene Clair's Queen Christina.

Although Orson Welles is to be seen in the new British film of Charles Dickens' novel, Nicholas Nickleby, Sir Cedric Hardwicke versatile British character actor is no hoss at movie acting.

"If there's acting to be done," he said, "the camera's the only place on which to do it."

Sir Cedric said the best actor he performed in opera most of his life time on the stage for is a mule playing to comparatively small but "most discriminating audience."

He remarked, "The screen has a little to offer actors. It deals chiefly in terms of beauty and in Hollywood, for instance, there are hundred of magnificent character actor kicking their heels."

"They can them together with the furniture and the curtains, and the rest of the decorations for the set and the camera looks over the head of the young male and the young female."

A throwback today, the actor is of practically no importance in film at all."

"Naturally the success of Nicholas Nickleby do not agree. They claim Sir Cedric has all the made to order part and he could do it to the film in the role as Nickleby."

Of modern control Sir Cedric has this to say: "The incubus of boy and girl will make months on every film. The development of character is sacrificed to the familiar intricacies of amorous pursuit."

A person in which of course only the young are fitted to take part.

After police arrested a man who threatened to throw acid in Rita Hayworth's face, postal authorities revealed they have the names of more than 100 cranks who write letters to the stars. They are not arrested unless they use obscene language or attempt extortion.

Edward Johnson, the expatriate from Guelph, Ontario, who is head of the Metropolitan opera, has been offered $400,000 for the use of the name and the privilege of filming a motion picture inside the famous old opera house. The offer comes from Boris Morros and William Le-baron who just completed "Carnegie Hall."

Paul Dupuis, the Montrealer who made such a hit in Johnny Frenchman" is back in England to start a new seven-year contract with the J. Arthur Rank organization. Rank officials were so impressed with Dupuis' work in the French version of "Whispering City" that they signed him to a new contract immediately. The film is the first picture by Quebec Production Corporation.

'13 Rue Madeleine' At Royal Tuesday

Shooting a picture entirely on location with cameras set up in Washington, Boston, Salem, Brooklyn, Portsmouth and Quebec, among other places was the gargantuan task Producer Louis de Rochemont and Director Henry Hathaway were confronted with in the filming of Twentieth Century-Fox's adventure story, "13 Rue Madeleine," which opens Tuesday at the Royal Theatre. Aside from James Cagney, Annabella, Richard Conte, Frank Latimore, Melinda Cooper, Walter Abel and Sam Jaffe, practically no other expert-type players were used.

Unusual Story In Plaza Picture

Paul Muni plays the starring role in Eddie Knopf's production of Charles R. Rogers' Paramount release, "Angel on My Shoulder," now showing at the Plaza Theatre. Based on Alfred Hayes' original screen story, the picture was adapted for the screen by Harry Segall, author of "Here Comes Mr. Jordan." Anne Baxter and Claude Rains are co-starred with Muni in the picture, playing an important supporting part.

Gene Autry Stars In 'Sioux City Sue'

The plot of "Sioux City Sue," which end tomorrow night at the Dominion Theatre, is a gem, dealing with twin sisters, one of whom is a dog. The latter is betrothed and her betrothed is taken out to be executed. The other sister, played by Lynne Roberts, is a rough of a girl who makes a deal with the villain to save her betrothed's life. The villain's price is the dog. Gene Autry plays the role of a cowboy who comes to the rescue.

The Third Week For Jolson Story

Al Jolson, declared by the first time records who Larry Parks, a comparative unknown was chosen to be portray Jolson in Columbia's "The Jolson Story," a Technicolor musical based on the famous entertainer's remarkable career in show business.

Larry was the only candidate Al didn't come around and say that he considers a perfect imitation of Jolson, said the singer. It was his modesty, for the ability I saw in a couple of his recent pictures.

This exceptionally fine picture is now in its third week at the Capitol Theatre.

Wall Street Staff Vote for Strike

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP) — More than 1,400 unionized financial workers voted overwhelmingly last night in favor of a strike at Wall Street exchanges and a brokerage house after a 30-day contract cancellation notice.

The vote conducted by the United Financial Employees, A.F.L., was 1,444 to 144 in favor of the walkout which union officials said might lead to a shutdown of the stock, curb and cotton exchanges as well as the financial district's brokerage houses.

The vote was ordered after a deadlock had been reached in negotiation between the brokerage house of A. M. Kidder & Company and the union. John Cole, a vice-president of the union, said the company had refused a wage increase.

United, St. Andrews Battle to 1-1 Draw

Victoria Eleven in Great Performance To Retain First Place With Fifth Tie

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	D	GF	GA	Pts
VICTORIA United	7	0	5	18	10	9
St. Andrews	5	0	5	16	8	7
North Shore	7	1	2	16	11	6
Kerrisdale	7	3	1	10	18	5
Nanaimo	1	6	2	11	23	4
St. Saviours	1	6	1	15	22	3

Yesterday's scores: United 1, St. Andrews 1; Kerrisdale 4, St. Saviours 2; Nanaimo 4, North Shore 1.

Victoria United who have led the way in second-half play in the Coast soccer loop from the start, met their sternest test at Royal Athletic Park yesterday afternoon and came through with flying colors as they battled a full-strength St. Andrews eleven to a well-deserved 1-1 draw before 2,000 pleased fans.

Hardly rated a chance against the powerful Scots, United showed a lot of spirit and hustle to earn the split in points and could easily have taken it all with a break or two.

Standing out for the underdogs was the fine work of the two backs and Centre-half Rookie Wright. Tom Drew was the pick of the club while Reside also stood up well. Wright made few mistakes, with the dangerous Ambler.

McMillan, a real star yesterday and Murray Spencer kept close to Matheson and Whent, the dangerous inside pair, and Moss was sound in the nets to round out a fine defensive performance by the Costermen.

Eddie DeCosta, playing his first full game for United, was the pick of the forwards at inside left with Heppenstall showing some neat touches.

Play throughout was even with the exception of the final 15 minutes when Saints pressed the tiring Victorians but could not penetrate their dogged defence for the winning counter.

Victoria scored first at the 25-minute mark on a freak play. DeCosta carried the ball up to the penalty area and attempted to pass through the middle. Restell rushed in and tried to deflect the ball which continued on its way into the back of the net as Restell's play blocked. Newbold out.

A few minutes later Matheson finished off a pretty passing play with Ambler, by driving a rising shot into a top corner as he took a through pass on the run.

Just before the half, Hepenstall nearly missed what would have been the winning counter. Travis centred perfectly from the wing and the former R.A.F. player steadied, picked his spot and headed beautifully, only to see the ball come back out off the bottom of the crossbar.

Much of the play after the breather was confined to midfield. Whent missed twice on first-time effort, for St. Andrews while DeCosta bombing left-footer just sailed over.

In the late minutes both clubs showed the effects of the fast pace as they ran daily warm-day and play eased down. United were the more tired and stayed off defeat only by their persistent breaking up.

Kerries Down Tigers; Smith Scores Three

VANCOUVER, March 15 (CP) — With Hap Smith supplying most of the scoring punch with a three-goal barrage, Kerrisdale came from behind in a Coast League soccer game here today to score a 4-3 triumph over St. Saviours and move into fourth place.

After Smith had opened the scoring at the eight-minute mark, Jack Moon, Jankovitch and Rogers scored for the Tigers to give them a 3-1 edge at the breather. Only some smart goal tending by Byford in the Kerries net kept the score from mounting higher.

Smith scored at the seven-minute mark of the final half and came back with the equalizer 13 minutes later. In scoring the tying goal, Smith twisted his ankle and had to be replaced. Tommy Ellison took over the pivot spot and was credited with the winning goal when St. Dela unjudged his lob.

Smith, Arnott and Byford were the pick of the winners, while Rogers, Jankovitch and McKibbon were the best for Tigers.

Playing Fields In Good State

Satisfaction with the state of various playing fields in city parks and the plans of the parks board to further improve these facilities was expressed by members of the executive of the Sports Council of Greater Victoria who toured the areas yesterday morning.

Accompanied by Alderman F. G. Mullin, acting chairman of the parks board, and Parks Superintendent H. W. Warren, the group visited the newly improved playing fields in lower Beacon Hill Park, the Heywood Avenue grounds, Central Park and the board's new park site on Rockland.

Dennis Fletcher, [illegible] president of the council expressed himself as pleased with the state in which he found the various baseball and softball diamonds, football fields and other playing surfaces and complimented Mr. Warren on the work done so far to make the park playing field the best in the Lower Island area.

Other who made up the party were Ernest Curtain and Alfred Worthington.

Nanaimo Fans Pay Tribute To Ukie Grey

NANAIMO, B.C., March 15 (CP) — Nanaimo and Pacific Coast fans and players today honored this city's number one soccer figure, and the shuffling, habitually stopped-over Ukie Grey reciprocated by coming through with one of his famous drives to give Nanaimo a nip and tuck 3-2 victory over Vancouver North Shore United here before a crowd of more than 2,500.

It was a 'Ukie Day' for Nanaimo and the fans not forgetting many former soccer stars, turned out to see Grey and his wife suitably honored at the half-way mark in the Coast Senior Soccer League fixture.

With the score knotted at 2-2 nearing the final 15 minutes of play, Ukie took an awarded free kick and scored what proved the deciding counter after Morley, North Shore centre-half, had fouled Alvin Parks just outside the Red. [illegible]

Nanaimo took a 2-1 lead in the first half on goals by Park and Art Denton, with North Shore sandwiching a lone marker off the boot of right winger Connie Wood. [illegible] ing goal when he passed to Southcott.

Mayor [illegible] a testimonial scroll. The mayor said it was the first and only time the council members had [illegible] a member of the playing [illegible]. A purse donated by Nanaimo soccer fans and a gift from the North Shore Eleven for whom Grey played in 1943, 1944 and 1945 season, highlighted the game ceremonies.

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP).—Sammy Angott, former welterweight champion, got up off the floor in the first round to knock out Nick Castiglione of Chicago in the fourth round of their scheduled ten-rounder at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Angott, 143, from Washington, Pa., earned the fourth victory in his comeback attempt by flooring Castiglione, 144, for an eight count in the second round and then putting him away for keeps at 2:41 of the fourth canto with a vicious right and left cross.

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP).—Cement-chinned Jake La Motta of the Bronx made it three straight over Welterweight Tommy Bell last night with a ten-round decision in Madison Square Garden but had a tougher time this time than in the other two fights. La Motta scaled 161, Bell 151.

Last night's scores: Canadiens 1, Rangers 0; Toronto 5, Boston 3; Detroit 8, Chicago 1.

Next games: Tonight: Canadiens at Rangers; Toronto at Boston; Detroit at Chicago.

All six NHL clubs in action last night and when the firing was over Montreal Canadiens had assured themselves of at least a tie for first place. Toronto Maple Leafs were a cinch for the runner-up berth and New York Rangers' play-off chances were practically erased.

Canadiens edged Rangers 1-0 on Buddy O'Connor's second-period goal in a dull, cautious game. Detroit Red Wings took advantage of this to take a three-point lead in the race for fourth place with an 8-3 triumph over the hapless Chicago Black Hawks.

At Toronto, the Leafs barely staved off a late rally by Boston to gain a 5-3 tie. It was Boston's eighth straight game without a loss and left them in third place and likely to face Canadiens in opening Stanley Cup semi-final.

Final McKechnie Cup Fixture Won by Vancouver Lions, 16-8

VANCOUVER, March 15 (CP) — Vancouver Reps captured second place in the McKechnie Cup Flash Rugby series here today when they came from behind in the second half to down Victoria Crimson Tide 16-8.

The scoring was the only [illegible] the UBC Thunderbirds. In another meeting at Victoria the teams had drawn 3-3.

Vancouver opened the scoring at the seven minute mark of the first half when Len Mitten [illegible] the ball across the line to break away and go 3 yards for a try. Harry Winters' try for the convert was wide.

Victoria tied it up and went ahead after 23 minutes of play when Jerry Wood intercepted a pass and raced 40 yards to the line and cut behind the posts, setting up an easy convert for Fullback Bart Olson to make it 3-3.

Four minute after resuming the Smart work by the forward [illegible] Andrews [illegible] for the Victoria convert was [illegible] Olson touched the ball after setting it up and stepping back to kick.

Thirteen minutes later, Jack D'Easum put Vancouver back in the game when he took advantage of some loose goal line play by the Victoria backs to go over. The convert missed.

Eager for Victory Vancouver scored again three minutes later, as the result of a penalty against Victoria for handing in the scrum. Winters kick was just left and in following scramble for the loose ball Forward Jack Ewart drove across to make it 9-8 for the home team. This time Winter connected to [illegible] the extra point of points.

In the dying seconds of the game Mitten connected with Bobby Blendheim, who promptly took off around the left side of the scrum, raced 25 yards to the goal line and then cut right into the middle and set the ball down squarely between the uprights. Bill Kidder made no mistake on the convert to make it 16-8.

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, March 15 (CP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers maintained their drive toward the English Football League championship today by stopping Charlton Athletic 2-0, while Liverpool and Blackpool stayed in pursuit of the leaders, four points [illegible] mouth and Sheffield United.

Improved weather conditions throughout the United Kingdom enabled most games to be played and for the first Saturday in several weeks most major football pools operated.

Cardiff City, leading the Southern Third Division, walloped Mansfield Town 5-0 to move closer to promotion, while Doncaster, far in front of the Northern Section, had an unexpectedly hard time to beat lowly Hull City 1-0.

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

IT is unlikely that Field Marshal Montgomery will succumb to the temptation that mastered Wellington, and that now menaces two or three of his American comrades-in-arms. He is on record as follows: "In history the military leader has frequently been tempted and frequently succumbed to the temptation to aspire to political leadership. The whole training and experience of the soldier is to take direct action down certain well-defined lines, and he has in his hands a military machine which responds immediately and with precision to his touch. The politician is trained in subtlety in debate, in weighing up the conflicting interests of his supporters and Brains in compromise, and the Government is much less precise or exact than the military and is much more liable to deviation in highly skilled political hands."

Aussie Wrestler Pins Little Wolf

Surprises were the order of the night at Rocky Brooks' Armoury wrestling presentation last night. In the feature event, Chief Little Wolf lost two straight falls to Australia's Fred Atkins. Ken Kenneth and Juan Sepera battled to a clean, fast one-fall draw, while Jim Spencer found Cliff Thiede one fall too good.

Little Wolf was battered in a short bout by a succession of elbow jabs and flattened with a press for the first fall. Atkins miraculously found the key to the Chief deathlock and made it backfire for the clincher.

Kenneth came up with a new one as he used a reverse straddle on Sepeda for the twing fall after Juan had tossed the New Zealander with a succession of flying mares and pinned him.

In the preliminary bout Jim Spencer and Cliff Thiede elected to "play rough" with intriguing results. At one time in the proceedings Thiede, Spencer and Referee Johnny Pears delighted the fans with a [illegible] top man. After 20 minutes Thiede used a series of butts to subdue Spencer, but was himself the victim of a Boston crab five minutes later. A spectacular butt from outside the ring, followed by a crushing dive gave Thiede the final fall.

Former M.L.A. For Comox Buried Here

Four ministers took part in funeral services here yesterday for Rev. Thomas Menzies, former member of the Legislature, civil servant and British Columbia missionary who died Wednesday following a brief illness.

Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, assisted by Rev. W. W. McPherson, Rev. W. G. Wilson and Rev. F. W. Anderson conducted the service which was held in First United Church.

Interment was made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mr. Menzies came to British Columbia in 1895. His mission fields included Alberni, where he learned to speak the Chinook language.

He held a ministry for more than 20 years in the Comox Valley, and built the church at Comox and also St. George's Church at Courtenay. In 1920 he was elected to represent Comox in the Legislature. He moved to Victoria in 1922.

Chief of Police Advises Care With Money

Chief J. A. McLellan has issued a timely warning to women shoppers.

"Do not carry around large sums of money that you do not intend to spend. It is safer in the bank until you need it, and your mind will be much easier," he said.

"Do not carry your handbag containing your money under your arm—the movement of the body in walking will displace it and it may slip away from you without your feeling its loss.

"Do not lay your handbag or purse on the counter while examining goods. You may forget it, or it may be picked up by someone else.

"Do not count your money on the street, and when you go to the bank to draw out some cash, be sure to place it in your purse before you leave the bank. To walk out of the bank on to the street with money and an open purse is to invite theft.

"Should you lose your purse, notify the police immediately. On the other hand, should you find a purse, turn it over to the police without delay, remembering that someone may suffer very great hardship until it is restored."

Victoria Pilot Visits Ottawa

Capt. Walter Wingatt, of the British Columbia Pilotage Authority, Victoria branch, is now in Ottawa where he will attend a meeting of pilots from both coasts of Canada to discuss details of an agreement to be requested from the Federal Government on wages and working conditions.

The pilots meeting is scheduled to be held next Tuesday. Atlantic Coast pilots, whose threatened strike late last year was forestalled by the Federal Government guaranteeing each man $300 monthly, have reported they were notified last month that the monthly cheques would end March 1.

Now that the cheques have stopped, the East Coast pilots have decided to withhold any action until after the Tuesday meeting.

Zoning Limits Suggested At Brentwood

BRENTWOOD, March 15.—Councillors Kersey and Passmore and Building Inspector Green met the members of the recently-appointed committee on zoning at a public meeting Friday night at the Women's Institute Hall at Brentwood, which was attended by many interested ratepayers.

Claude Butler was in the chair and Fred Riley acted as secretary.

The committee suggested that the area to be zoned should be roughly bounded by Stelly's Crossroad, the West Saanich Road, Benvenuto Avenue and the waterfront. Other recommendations to the Saanich Council included the classes of occupancy to be allowed in the area, various set-back distances from roadfrontages, and minimum square foot ground floor areas for new dwellings.

Each section of the recommendations was discussed by those present and Mr. Stanley Green and the councillors answered questions and gave suggestions. The recommendations were finally passed with one or two amendments.

Mr. V. C. Dawson suggested the formation of a local committee to watch the interests of property owners in the district, and possibly to be the nucleus for the formation of a community club or improvement association.

Mr. Fred Riley suggested that the Saanich Council set aside a certain property owned by the municipality as a public park and Councillor Kersey promised to take this up with the council.

A. F. Brownsey Elected Head Of Sooke Body

SOOKE, March 15.—A. F. Brownsey was elected president of the Sooke Community Association at its annual meeting last night in the Community Hall.

Other officers elected were F. G. Gray, vice-president; directors, Walter Conder; D. J. de Rochie, J. Collins, A. Morris, R. G. Gibson, C. Jackman and Mrs. Donald Morrison. Capt. P. W. de P. Taylor conducted the elections.

The financial report was given by secretary Walter Conder. A letter was read from A. M. D. Fairbairn reminding the association that the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the first white settler, Capt. W. Colquhoun Grant, would take place in 1949.

He said it should be celebrated in some fitting manner.

A vote of thanks was tendered by D. J. de Rochie to Mr. Fairbairn, Capt. Taylor and Mr. Laing for their efforts in the recent successful art exhibit which had resulted in bringing the membership in the Community Association up to 231 members.

To promote interest in the business of the association it was agreed to hold general quarterly meetings.

To meet the growing needs of the hall a full-time janitor was engaged. Harry Slack accepting the position.

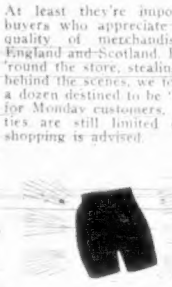
Important Imports . . .

At least they're important to buyers who appreciate the fine quality of merchandise from England and Scotland. Browsing 'round the store, stealing a peek behind the scenes, we found half a dozen destined to be "put out" for Monday customers. Quantities are still limited so early shopping is advised.



From ENGLAND . . .

Something new in panties . . . made from Rayon Milanese that shines like silk satin, but on closer examination is a fine knit in an exceptionally heavy weight. Another special feature is the lacy, knitted, elastic top and cuffs . . . dainty yet sturdy! Only 2.59 a pair in the Lingerie, Second Floor.

From SCOTLAND . . .

"Hugmetights" and bedjackets for the lovers of cosy, bedtime comfort. Soft, soft, all virgin botany wool in the most delicate shades of blue or pink . . . and, of course, white. The "hugmetights" are something new and very clever . . . look like a long, wide scarf that drapes across your shoulders and fastens snugly about the wrists. Both garments are in an open, lacy pattern. "Hugmetights," 2.39; Bedjackets, 3.50; in the Lingerie, Second Floor.

From ENGLAND . . .

More from our Lingerie Department, Second Floor! Wolsey vests and panties . . . some in botany wool with very feminine lace knit top . . . others in cotton and artificial silk. No need to worry about these cosy garments ever losing their shape for elastic has been knitted right into the tops of the vests and around the legs of the panties . . . insuring you of snug comfort and smooth fit always. Prices on this English line vary according to the size range from 2.39 to 3.29.

From ENGLAND . . .

New velour robes in heart-warming shades of rose or blue. Well-tailored in button-down-the-front style with the buttons covered in self fabric. These come in women's sizes at 18.50, out-sizes at 23.50. Tailored wrap-arounds in women's sizes 19.95, out-sizes 24.50. House Coats, Second Floor.

From SCOTLAND . . .

Men's Cashmere Sleeveless Sweaters caught our eye in the Men's Furnishings, Street Floor. They're an ideal garment for the sportsman's wardrobe or any man that enjoys the comfort of leisure time wear. Brown, navy, wine, in sizes 36 to 40, 9.95.

From ENGLAND . . .

Pyjamas that will double your sleeping comfort! They're made like a two-piece ski suit in mercerized cotton with cuffs on the pants and sweater-like top knitted to fit snugly. Pants have elastic at waist . . . top has a crew neckline. Blue or fawn in sizes 36 to 40. 5.95 in our Men's Furnishings, Street Floor.
